THE SANTA CLAUS STOCKING FUND

Christmas is now only a matter of days away and the Santa Claus Stocking Fund at Lindsay is making its annual appeal for funds to bring success to the needy at this festive season.

Established about half a century ago, the fund has been gladdening the hearts of countless people over the years by ensuring that needy families have a good supply of food and other necessities for Christmas Day. It has been the practice of the fund to provide baskets containing the makings of a good Christmas dinner "with some to spare" for families and individuals who might otherwise be deprived of even this comfort.

As a matter of interest to those not familiar with the way the fund works, it might be pointed out that it is operated purely on a voluntary basis. There is no charge made for the services of those who administer it or carry out its function. . . . All the money which goes into the fund is used to brighten the lives of people at Christmas through its Christmas hamper mission and to provide emergency relief at other times. For example, there are occasions during the year when someone, through no fault of their own, runs on the financial shoals. Emergency relief—relief which can be given quicker than that obtainable through regular relief channels—is often provided out of the fund. An account of the fund's transactions is submitted annually to Lindsay's citizens in order that it might be known that on no occasion has any member of council had anything but praise for the way it is handled.

Cash donations to the Santa Claus Stocking Fund may be left with the Canadian Bank of Commerce or at this office as a service to anyone passing this way. This is often helpful during those hours when the bank is not open.

Remember, when you support the Santa Claus Stocking Fund it isn't the size of your donation which counts, it's the fact that you did something tangible to help others less fortunate than yourself.

A TRIBUTE TO SIR WINSTON

Sir Winston Churchill's closest American friend paid a warm tribute to the famous British statesman Monday . . . Churchill's 85th birthday.

Silver-haired, 89-year-old Bernard M. Baruch said "All free men should celebrate Mr. Churchill's birthday."

In Baruch's words, Churchill "stood alone when England laid her back to the wall. Adversity brought out the best in him. He always showed a tremendous amount of courage. He represents the finest flowering of the human race in the history of Britain."

Baruch also knew Churchill for 40 years—"not only in the field of endeavour, but also as a tender, understanding human being."

I have never known him to make an ignoble proposal," Baruch said. "No matter how dark or grim the situation might be, he could rally mankind to the best that was in him."

Baruch told UPI's James Kilgallen that "few men have been tested as Winston Churchill has been, no man has passed the test of greatness as gloriously as he has."

Baruch went on to explain that Churchill's rise to the pinnacle of fame and achievement was not easy, nor the progress unbroken.

In Baruch's words: "He knew defeat and rejection. Never did I know him to falter, waver or despair. His most eloquent words were his inspiring thoughts, his most endearing deeds were wrought in times of trial."

Baruch called Churchill "a great, just . . . guided by noble rather than ignoble instincts. The rarest of persons: A civilized man. He said his 'nobility of character coupled to his ability made him the spokesman and champion of all mankind in the darkest time in history.'"

"Winston Churchill, the civilized man, belongs to all the world."

MYRTLE

The Human Mind and Body

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

Man With Slight Hearing Loss Is Iried by Those Who Mumble
"Speak up!" How often teachers used to tell us that in school.

According to an interesting letter received today from Mr. C. P. of Indiana, many of us have grown up without having learned this lesson.

"Dear Dr. Steincrohn: There is one question I would like to ask you. Why is it people are always harping about the ones who have a loss of hearing? You never hear or read anything about the ones who are doing the talking to all of these people who have hearing-loss."

"Since there are millions of people in the same boat I am in, I think it's about time one of us spoke up. I have a small loss of hearing and have worn an eeglass hearing-aid for over a year now. Yet, there are still about a fourth of the people with whom I talk, I cannot understand."

"I don't see the hearing aid, Mr. I have the best that can be bought. My wife has splendid hearing and frequently I will ask her if she understood those people. When I don't understand them, she doesn't understand them. And now who is to blame?"

"It seems that we can put 'talking people' into four groups: 1. Those who know how to talk. 2. Those who mumble. 3. Those who don't want you to understand them. 4. Those who are too lazy to let the words get past their lips."

"Number 1 denotes intelligence. Number 2 denotes ignorance. Number 3 denotes impatience. Number 4—heaven give them strength to speak."

"As the saying goes: 'It is better to say what you know than to think and say what you don't know.' I have thought a fool, then to speak and remove all doubt. Let me say this, it shows intelligence to wear a hearing aid. No doubt, but wouldn't it be wonderful if people would just learn how to talk the right way. It belongs in the right place where they can hear it."

COMMENT: Calm down, Mr. C. P. Nobody's blaming anybody.

Loss of Weight
COMMENT: It is one thing to lose a few pounds because of dieting or excessive perspiration due to the heat; quite another to lose dozens of pounds for no reason.

It is surprising to me that there are still people who go along nonchalantly with weight loss. They do not consider this a warning sign of possible serious illness. They ever lose a bit of weight, don't let it go as long as they feel fine.

Dr. of Washington, D. C.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am 29 and have no children. My problem is that I have been losing weight during the past six months. I have lost 20 pounds when I was single I weighed about 128 pounds. I am 5 feet 10 inches tall. I don't want any more weight.

I can't understand it. I feel well, except for a slight cough that I've developed. Should I see a doctor or not worry?

COMMENT: One guess! However, I'd better not take a chance. I'd be specific. See your doctor!

Don't To Conscientious For Him

Dear Mr. J. of Detroit: Why be angry at your doctor? Your

A Present With A Foreign Label
White House aids are betting that President Eisenhower's coming goodwill trip will mean there'll be a present with a foreign label on it in Mrs. Eisenhower's Christmas stocking.

The aides note that the president—like most husbands—normally leaves most of the family Christmas shopping to his wife. But he is responsible for Mrs. Eisenhower's gift. And since Mr. Eisenhower won't be returning to Washington until a couple of days before Christmas, chances are the first lady's present may be some Italian silk from New Delhi... a trinket from Teheran... or a moment from Madrid.

With the president's daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, along on the overseas trip, the chief executive will have an expert adviser in the choice of presents.

Barbara Eisenhower has said that if time permits, she hopes to do a bit of her own Christmas shopping on the trip, too.

Marching Record
A 35-year-old regular proved she could walk 10 miles without running this year. Dr. Barbara Moore claimed she set a marching record in England a week ago in 27½ hours. But competition said the woman cheated by running a little.

Sunday, Mrs. Moore—the wife of sculptor Henry Moore—looked a witness along the long distance hike. She did it in 14½ hours and 34 minutes... without running. Mr. Moore keeps up her stamina on a diet of fruit and juices and herbs.

Spirit of Santa Claus
A 10-year-old Iowa boy knows the spirit of Santa Claus really lives. Jimmy Campbell has always wanted an electric organ. He found just the one he wanted in a catalog. So the youngster wrote to the company and promised to send a letter when he had sent a little money he had sent enough money.

After telling his parents about the purchase, Jimmy managed to make his payments for three weeks.

Then he ran into financial difficulties.

But the employees at the catalog store understood Jimmy got a note from the company. It said the workers "Knew little boys like Jimmy could trouble." So Jimmy is getting his $85 tale model organ... and the mail order firm told him it hopes he will be able to play it by Christmas.

Household Hint
If you dry freshly laundered wash and - wear fabrics in a dryer, guard against over-drying. Remove the clothes the moment they are dry. Never let them sit for long in a hot machine.

There's vast difference...

There's a vast difference between the figures 8,000 and 3,800. . . . And this is especially true when it comes to land area. When Ops Township's newly-acquired Deputy-sheriff Sherry Curries made reference to the area Lindsay proposed to annex at Ops' nomination meeting, he talked in terms of 3,800 acres. Something happened between then and the time the figure appeared in print. . . . In any event it showed up as 8,000 acres. The corrected figure, as stated by Mr. Curries at the nomination meeting, is 3,800 acres.

Miss F. King Guest Speaker at WJ Meeting

November meeting of the Woodville W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Murray with 21 ladies present and the president, Miss Joyce Westlake in the chair.

Meeting opened with the singing of the Ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. Roll was called. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Treasurers and Remembrance Committee reports were given. Correspondence was read and dealt with.

In connection with the T.R. clinic to be held here in the near future the W.I. are sponsoring a prize for the best letter made by a school child. A splendid paper prepared by Mrs. Jarvis Stoddart on "Medicine" was read by Mrs. W. Bayes.

The motto for this meeting was "If you have health, you have hope. If you have hope you will have everything."

Mrs. Stanley Murray made the following comment on the motto: "The other day I was present at a quilting and heard the usual 'ohs' and 'ouches', as the needles went a little further than the lining of the quilt. Someone said 'It's wonderful how nature heals over bumps and bruises.' And then someone else said, 'Ladies did you ever stop to think of the restoring power of a good night's sleep?' This conversation brought me to mind the motto for this meeting."

Burgant health is not a free gift. It is a gift of nature. It is a prize often and easily lost. It is like a sum of money in the bank, which will support you if economically spent. We are inclined to spend foolishly and draw on the principal. With health, everything is a source of pleasure, without it, nothing is enjoyable. It follows that the greatest of follies is to sacrifice health for any other kind of happiness. Health gives us cause to wax on each morning with a smile. Cause to greet the day with reverence for the opportunities it contains and approach our work with a clear mind. If we have health we have hope, which may be defined as the power to believe. There is no happiness which hope cannot promise, no difficulty which it cannot surmount, no grief which it cannot mitigate. Hope is the wealth of the poor, the health of the sick, the freedom of the captive and the rest of the toiler.

As we enjoy our health, let us rejoice in hope, and when we have hoped to the end of here, God will give us something to look forward to for all eternity. For hope abides, etc."

Mrs. Davies then read Dr. R. W. Young's article from the Reader's Digest, "Why do good people suffer?"

Master Bruce Benson played a piano solo after which Mrs. Murray introduced the guest speaker, Miss F. King, who spoke on T.R. and T.B. clinics.

Miss King is also a concert pianist and delighted everyone with a piano selection.

Mrs. Westlake thanked Mrs. King for her address, Mrs. Murray for the use of her home and the committee in charge of the program.

Meeting closed with all repeating the Mary Stewart Collect.

A delicious lunch was served.

Architect Includes Family Room In Three-Bedroom Bungalow

Inclusion of a family room in a house of modest size is an interesting feature of this three-bedroom design by architect Ronald Whistler of Don Mills. As well as providing a play area for children the room ensures good natural ventilation. The basement extends over the smaller wing of the house. A side roof overhang protects both the main and rear entrances and provides a place for hanging coats and a clothes closet in the family room. In addition is a large coat closet at the front entrance.

FACTS for FARMERS

Some news of special interest to our farm subscribers

Editor Lauds Extension Engineers

Lane Palmer, managing editor of the world's largest circulation farm magazine, Farm Journal (circulation: 3 million), thinks Ontario's Agricultural Engineering Extension Specialists' setup beats anything he has seen in the United States. "We've been trying to promote the idea of engineering experts in the field for a long time in the Farm Journal," said Palmer to some of the Ontario Department of Agriculture's engineers last week, "but so far the only one I've seen in North America is Yours".

Palmer, in Ontario to address the annual meeting of the Canadian Farm Writers' Federation, felt that agricultural engineering extension experts in the U.S. stay too close to experimental stations and colleges. His view: They aren't in contact enough with farmers to help them as much as they might.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture employs more than 20 of the specialists and most of them are located in the Agricultural Representatives' offices. Farmers with problems of conservation such as terracing, drainage, and farm ponds, and also of remodeling farm buildings first contact the Agricultural Representatives who then puts them in touch with the engineering specialist who can best handle their problem.

"I like the idea of advice right on the farm," said Palmer. "The engineer has a better chance to size up the individual problem."

Cemetery Board Plans to Build Burial Vault

Haliburton (PNS)—The District Cemetery Board met with the following members present: Reeve Nicol, Councillors Sisson, Petr, Roy Brohm, Clifford A. Kelleit with Boyd Austin as secretary.

The Cemetery Board approved the awarding of a contract to Yves Sicard to construct a burial vault at the Haliburton Evergreen Cemetery.

The building is to be constructed on the same site where an excavation was made previously, but as a protest was made, it was filled in a gain. All members voted in favor except Councillor Petr who registered a nay vote. The Ontario Dept. of Health and the Municipal Board have given the council authority to turn $3,000 over to the Cemetery Board for the construction of the building. The actual cost will be $4,077.50. This means that the balance will be raised by public subscription.

Jail no cure for drunkenness, may legislate for treatment

Toronto, Nov. 28—(UPI)—Ontario legislature observers believe new sweeping laws may be brought in to force drunks can be given clinical treatment instead of being sent to jail.

It is estimated that about 150,000 offenders now form half of the jail population.

James H. Murray, General Counsel for the Attorney General, Kelen Roberts met with 20 jurists, Welfare Researchers and alcohol researchers and said it was agreed that jail sentences are not a cure for drunkenness.

He said it was believed that clinical treatment could be given at the beginning of the sentence, a reversal of the present practice where alcoholics may seek rehabilitation clinic treatment towards the end of their sentences.

There are certain words in the English language which sometimes get tangled up when they appear in print. It is not uncommon for the word "plague" to find itself in that position unless great care is exercised by those forces which combine to turn out the printed word. Should anyone along the line become just a shade careless, it sometimes develops that an announcement appears to have presented someone with a "plague" ... Now, no one wants that sort of thing to get around. So the "Perform" is another word which occasionally get garbled and comes out "perform". This is especially interesting where it comes in the count of the wedding ceremony. The legal profession takes a dim view of the word "statute" appearing in print as "statute" and vice versa. ... They don't like the idea of people confusing law with gross images and vice versa.

At least twice in the past few days it has been noted with interest in medical circles that influenza is getting confused with chimneys in the words of the public. This stems from the fact that influenza is most often referred to as "flu". On two occasions it has been noted that "flu" came out in print as "flue". Both may have something in common when it comes to drafts.

One of the best yet, Santa parade reaction

Lindsay's traditional Santa Claus parade held Saturday night drew a large number of people to have been one of the best staged here in a number of years.

Santa, his Yuletide robes all dusted off, arrived drawn by eight reindeer. Proceeding his sleigh was a band of decorated floats paraded through the main streets of town to the sound of the band by the large crowd on hand.

Headed the parade was the Lindsay Kiemen Band. Following the band came floats depicting old-fashioned nursery rhymes. The floats were made up of the Lindsay Kiemen Club and the Lindsay Kiemen Club and the Auxiliary of the Kiemen Boys' Club.

Candies and hot dogs were distributed along the route by the above organizations. The parade was followed by a group in the procession, those depicting the Pied Piper and the group of Chinese Oriental.

Immediately following a trio playing "The Saints", came a float sponsored by the Kiemen Club, the float adorned with red candies and balloons at the store. It was later learned that both floats were quickly picked up by youngsters within minutes of the conclusion of the parade.

Farmers' Club Annual Dinner

Omeme (PNS) — Annual dinner of the Omeme Farmers' Club was held recently at the Lindsay United Church W. A. Catering.

Guest speaker was ex-Mayor John A. Dewar who described his trip to Europe and the British Isles recently. He was introduced by Alvin Francis and thanked by W. D. Weir.

Other speakers were the Rev. J. Reed, Rev. R. S. Mansfield, Marwood McCormack and Harry Jackson, who were concerned with the fact that some of his best show cattle had developed ringworm and warts.

Dr. Neely stated that there were no new cures for these bugs; the "hacking" thing about treating for this worm," he says "is the treatment that suggests best."

The veterinarian announced a song about the importance of treating the lesion scrupulously with a stiff brush and bandage.

—Apply lecture of iodine to the lesion. How do you prevent ringworm?

The first step is to isolate any infected animals. Clean pens, good grooming, clean feeders, rubbers, rubbing posts and feeders with a 1 per cent iodine solution.

"Wart treatment depends on the type of wart," comments Dr. Neely. "If only a few warts are found they can be removed surgically."

The treasurer's report by Mrs. Golden showed a total of $820 already raised, nearly $800 of which was given in 26 Thanksgivings for which the president expressed special thanks to the members. In the absence, through illness, of the secretary, Mrs. F. Weldon, Mrs. Golden acted as secretary. Corresponding secretary Mrs. S. A report of the church visiting committee was given by its chairman, Mrs. C. Dalton, who reminded us that one of the auxiliary's duties is to assist the ministers and the elders with visiting the sick and shut-ins, the bereaved and the sorrowing. The congregation has grown so much an extent and the town is spreading it and is now divided into 30 zones with 30 ladies to assist in the visiting. Cambridge St. United has 1050 members, 200 men, 250 women, 250 adults, 600 children and young people and 2500 in the Sunday school. The invitation was extended by the Evening Auxiliary to any who would like to see their slides on North Rhodesia on Nov. 30. Mrs. Dalton also gave a splendid report of the last two days of the School for Leaders held at Whitty Ag. 17-24 and thanked the auxiliary for the splendid providing.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Robeson with scripture read by Mrs. El. Jan.

Mrs. Young then gave a short synopsis of our new study book, "Africa Disturbed." The key word in Africa today is "disturbed." The causes are manifold. The old tribal customs are being uprooted and replaced by modern ways which have made it very hard for missionaries. Radio with its members of the study book, "The Spirit of God is within you" and is not confined to one race or one country.

The meeting closed with a hymn and the benediction by the president after which a dairy lunch was served and a social time spent.

Mr. R. Head, 30 St. David

Street, Lindsey, appeared before the special meeting of the Town Council on Monday night to register an objection to an order by Assessment Commissioner Don Tofflemire. The order was to the effect that the house number of the Head residence be changed to 28 St. David Street.

It was stated by Mr. Head that he had sold the house immediately north of his house. "The assessor says I have to change my number to be the same as the house number in conformity," Mr. Head declared.

Mr. Head revealed that the Tofflemire informed him he was not willing to give the house a half-number. "If I have to change the number of my house to 28, I will not live there," Mr. Head declared.

The Human

Mind and Body

By Peter J. Steinhorn, M.D., F.A.C.P.

Suffering From "Nerves," Be Loyal To Doctor

Occasionally I get letters from readers who wonder how people can be really as nervous as they claim to be. They say it seems impossible for human beings to go on existing day after day with so many complaints. Perhaps today's letter will give you an inkling about the sufferings of "nervous patients" who are otherwise very healthy.

"Dear Dr. Steinhorn: I am 42 and have been healthy until about a year ago. I had the Unhappy working area. Since. My doctors says there is nothing wrong with me except nerves—that I might be going through the change. But it seems impossible that my nerves could be causing all this."

"My stomach hurts. I have chest pains. I hurt around all my left side and in my heart. I have been nervous ever since. My doctors says there is nothing wrong with me except nerves—that I might be going through the change. But it seems impossible that my nerves could be causing all this."

"The request was made by builder George Finney who wished to build a milk-bar to service students at the L.C. 11. A strong petition from residents opposed the change was received."

Police said the Stubbings vehicle came in contact with the rear of a pick-up truck on Queen Street.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $225.

Blood supplies reported low, clinic appeals

An appeal has been made for all the residents of the Red Cross Blood Donors Clinic to be held here tomorrow.

Speaking for the Red Cross Society at Lindsey, Mrs. Irene Black, said the low response to the last clinic held across Ontario seriously threatened available supplies of blood.

Winter makes heavy demands on the blood bank because of the tendency for accidents to increase during this season, Mrs. Black declared.

Pleasing Exterior and Interior Design Combined in Modern Three-Bedroom House

Well adapted to the standard size city lot, this three-bedroom house is designed in modern lines and is a pleasure to live in. William A. Strong, of Toronto, has designed a pleasing exterior appearance in this brick and concrete house which will also appeal to the window areas and an attached carport.

(Of interest in the interior plan and position of the family room and the arrangement of the kitchen. The Unhappy working area provides an abundance of cupboards and ample counter space. The handy pass-through between the kitchen and family room will also appeal to the housewife. The architect has provided good closet space throughout the house while the rear wall of the carpeted concrete storage facilities for garden tools and toys.

The total floor area is 1,219 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 46 feet by 28 feet. The house has a carport extending 14 feet, 6 inches. Working kitchen for the house, known as Design 100, was designed from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

The back of my neck hurts and sometimes I have a pain in the back of my head. I must sleep on two pillows and can hardly go to sleep at night. I have to lie on my back until the early morning, before I can sleep on either side. Sometimes I see spots in front of my eyes and have a little soreness in my right eye.

"Doctor Steinhorn, can nerves cause all these feelings? If so, what is the best medicine to take and, what is good for sleep?"

"Is there any cure for nervousness? Will nerves finally drive a person crazy? If my nerves are causing my heart to race so much, will they affect my mind?"

"Doctor, it's not funny trying to live with all this. I didn't mean to preach a sermon, but I'm hoping you can help me, and also other people who are nervous. I'll always be grateful to you, M.J."

COMMENT: First things first: The "nerves" you describe will not drive a person "crazy," nor will they cause heart trouble.

Is there a cure? I wish I could give you a cure. As your own doctor can answer that better than I.

I have seen patients with symptoms like yours go along for years with the same symptoms and die of old age. If you are worried that the symptoms may cut short your life, you can forget about it.

On the other hand, many patients have recovered from a rash of symptoms within months or a year or two. If one of your symptoms are due to the menopause, treatment will probably make many to disappear.

Why are you nervous? I do not know. The cause may lie back in your childhood experience—or it may be something more recent. Don't give up on your doctor. If he is a good doctor and patient, he will try to get to the source.

The trouble is (and it's natural) that you may have many patients like yourself go running from one doctor to another—and get nowhere at all.

How To Find a Heart Trouble?

Dear Dr. Steinhorn: Three years ago my husband suffered an attack of coronary thrombosis. He has resumed work from one doctor to another—and get nowhere at all.

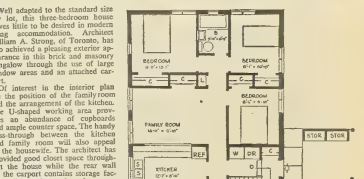

He also has a bad cough and wheezing. Six months ago I developed asthma. Do you recommend Florida—at least for the winter? Sincerely Mrs. J. S.

ANSWER: I consider Florida the best for most cardiacs. There's no question that a winter vacation is advisable.

But don't make a permanent move until a few months to live. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Lindsay system absorbing hike for time being hydro Commission heard Tuesday that an increase in the cost of power to Lindsay will be absorbed by the commission for the time being. It was pointed out however, that the increase will eventually have an effect on the rate being paid by consumers.

The notice of the increase was contained in correspondence received from the Ontario Electric Power Commission. It disclosed that current studies conducted in recent weeks indicate that the wholesale cost of power for 1959-60 will be somewhat higher than formerly contemplated.

The commission said the increase was due to such factors as higher interest rates and increases following the conciliation board report, and more recently the rise in the cost of living index.

The HEPC letter stated that it was proposed to omit the standard $1.00 kilowatt contingency reserve charge for the wholesale cost of power for the year.

Manager J. Lightbody also closed that at present the cost per annum per kilowatt is $38.75. The manager pointed out the increase would amount to an estimated 85 cents per kilowatt which would make the per annum figure would rise to $39.60. Mr. Lightbody also revealed the increase would cost the commission an estimated $6,000.

The manager said the letter from the HEPC pointed out that in some municipalities
a change in interim rates would be necessary. He also said that the increase would mean that the controversial
bill would be considerably less than last year. (The 13th covers the annual refund for the Ontario Hydro Commission to the local commissioners. Commissioners were of the opinion they could not do much about the proposed increase. Commented Commissioner Lamb: "It is a routine affair.")

At this year's nominal meeting for Town Council recently, Commissioner LaRocca, a member for 15 years, told the audience the local commission had a surplus of $100,000 last year.

Editorial

YES, IT IS VERY IMPORTANT

Addressing Canadians here at the luncheon meeting this week, Mr. Ben Rookies, general manager of Lindsay Wollens Mills Ltd., made reference to something which deserves to have the spotlight of attention focused on it. He spoke of the importance of having small industries scattered throughout the nation's smaller centres to provide employment for their young people, and thus offset the necessity of their moving to distant points to earn their daily bread. Mr. Rookies cited the effect this would have on families and of how it would tend to keep family life more intact.

Mr. Rookies declared, "very important to maintain employment in places like Lindsay to keep alive the ideal way of life." And it, isn't it?

Many of us can remember the first going away from home to make our way in the world. For some it was a venture in a big city, a metropolitan area where we were ill-equipped to cope. It was a way of life totally unfamiliar to that we had been accustomed from childhood. The lack of such contact with the family has no doubt left its mark on many people. It might not be too much to say that it has influenced their entire career. Things might have been not only different but better if they had not moved too early removed from their home surroundings.

URGES MORE FREEDOM FOR ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL

For the hospital to be a healthy organization, the psychological needs of its personnel must be met, thus there must be an understanding on the part of trustees of the need of freedom for the administrator and department heads so that their skill can be used by virtue of their own decisions and freedom. This statement was made by Mr. F. S. Groner, President-Elect of the American Hospital Association when speaking on the subject of "A Philosophy of Trusteeship."

"Risk and courage are necessary in order for the greatest advances to be made," said Mr. Groner and he pointed out that trustees would find a lasting satisfaction in the job of trusteeship well done without the necessity of having placed themselves in a position of the execution of an internal dictum. Courage requires a degree of risk. To give necessary freedom of operation to administrative personnel would, Mr. Groner maintained, require a change in the attitude of the risk makers expressing faith in one's fellow man and such faith challenges the best from the persons in whom faith is placed.

The speaker went on to point out that the development of any virile organization is dependent on the effectiveness and stature of the group which holds ultimate authority. For the trustee to reach his potential, the Board of Trustees must afford able and dynamic leadership. Mr. Groner stressed the need for a provision which would make it possible to include new Board members from time to time—persons who come from a variety of walks of life who would make available to the organization the knowledge, viewpoints and philosophies of many disciplines.

The Human Mind and Body

By Peter J. Stenochron, M.D., F.A.C.P.

Parents Advised to Permit Daughter to Undergo Plastic Surgery on Nose

"I'm unhappy about my nose," writes Miss D. L. of Detroit. "I want to make it to undergo plastic surgery, but my parents say that nobody has the right to fool with their own nose, and that because it was HIS will. I haven't the right to change it."

"I am 18. Can you help me, Dr. Stenochron?"

COMMENT: I hope I can. But I am sure that your parents will make a noble face just because I write a few words here. Anyhow, show them this column, and hope for the best.

I'd like to ask your folks some direct questions. Do you wear bifocals, Mr. L.? That's improving on nature. Do you wear an eyeglass, Mrs. L.? That's improving on nature. Do you diet to look nice?

Do you take catnip pills to help your hot flashes in the menopause? Do you get a haircut? Do you shave? Why? To improve on nature. I can understand why parents will say "No" because many can't afford plastic surgery. Or, because they think it is a very painful operation (which it isn't). But to deny plastic surgery to a troubled child who has a hooknose or any other "unbeautiful" nasal appendage—on the grounds that it is wrong to tamper with His will, is hypocritical and uncaring.

Let her have it done now when it means so much. Just yesterday I talked to a 46-year-old woman who had recently undergone plastic surgery on her nose.

She said, "What a fool I've been. How I've suffered since that time I was young. Why didn't I have it done years ago? I feel like a new person."

"You can't imagine what it means for a woman to look in to her mirror and not require. I think all teen-agers with 'pretty' noses should have a 'fix' when they are young—just and wait as long as I have."

I'll go a step further. The operation should not be limited to young girls. "How about the boys? They have the right to look more attractive, too."

I know a lawyer who had the operation done in his early forties. Within a year he was a success. Until the operation he was a failure. His new nose gave him more confidence and his personality (previously submerged) was cheering.

"I'm all for improving on nature. And I am sure that such tampering will not be looked upon with disfavour."

A young man asked me the other day if it was all right to dye his hair. He was in his thirties and was consistently white-haired. I said that if he bothered him, he would be a fool not to have it done.

What's wrong with looking nice? What's wrong with plastic surgery if it will give you inner happiness? You will be deprived of others and... I could go on and on Mr. and Mrs. L.

WA Presents New Officers for New Year

Blackstock.—(PNS)—There were 35 women present at the W.A. meeting held on the Lindsay School room recently. Roll call was answered by "The Jolly Christmas Carol."

Mrs. M. Graham reported on the meeting of the Parasange committee the previous evening. The Men's Parasange committee offered to pay half of the expenses of washing machine and stove and the local W.A. will pay their share. The balance, Mrs. Lorne Thompson, Mrs. G. Strong and the minister's family are to be remembered at Christmas. All Christmas boxes will be sent to shut-ins. The W.A. will assume expenses up to $500 for life for the floor in the new S.S. room. The usual donation will be made to the budget and M. and M. Rogers.

Mrs. Russell Mount Joy gave a gratifying treasurer's report. Hill reported the Good Cheer had sent out 52 baskets of fruit and 54 cards. Thank you cards were read and expressed verbally.

The nominating committee report was as follows: President, Mrs. F. Butt; Secretary, Mrs. W. Archer; Treasurer, Mrs. Bruce Ashton and Mrs. Romer; Auditors, Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Clarence.

Mrs. R. Mount Joy had charge of the devotional. Mrs. M. Graham read the scripture and Mrs. Mount Joy gave a paper and led in prayer.

The program was in charge of Mrs. N. Werry. Helen Swain played a piano solo and Joyce Graham showed delightful pictures of the West Indies. Miss Duff received a hearty vote of appreciation for her year's work as president.

Lunch was served by Mrs. N. Werry's group who had arranged Christmas decorations for the meeting.

Mrs. L. All I ask is that you give your child a "break." Just give that a qualified plastic surgeon does the job and you won't be sorry. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Christmas Card Display
If you would like to dress up your Christmas card display this year be business-like about it—by borrowing the bulletin board idea.

It is inexpensive and easy. All that is required is a suitably sized piece of wallboard. If you want to be fancy about it, one half-round or narrow moulding. Sometimes these materials can be used that from your "let's save it" stockpile in the basement but they can always be picked up from your local building supply dealer.

The wallboard, trimmed or gold to complement almost any colour. Then your white cards pinned on it. You have a decorative and festive holiday conversation piece.

If you have lots of cards and lots of room you can expand the bulletin board idea into a screen.

Two or three oblong panels of wall-board nailed together three-quarter round, which also serves as legs and suitably painted, make a striking decorator screen.

Either method will pose no storage problem after Christmas—bets are bulletin board members are grateful for your year-round pinup duty in their room.

moccasins, shoppacks or just plain every day overboots and cut the rug on a sheet of ice. (Actually, that part is a bit difficult because the rug has a tendency to stick.) One very nice feature of these dances is that there's always plenty of room and you can really let yourself go, often the length or breadth of the ice surface but that's always good for a laugh and to no gets are except the one who makes the trip with his feet in the air.

Thinking about moccasins and shoppacks serves as a reminder that they were once a very popular piece of footwear for the average Canadian youngster. Made from deer hide, the moccasin was the last sturdy of the two and the one thing the wearer dreaded more than anything else was a big thaw. They just wouldn't keep out water. But the shoppack was different. It was a very special shoe which was done with infinite care by the youthful weaver they sought without consideration of water and were ideal for such things as snowshoeing, tobogganing, etc. However, in the case of either the moccasin or the shoppack, if they did happen to become saturated, drying out had to be a slow process, either that or be prepared for a foot-shrinking operation.

Occasionally more than the foot got wet and the result was an explanation submitted to the head of the house was satisfactory, a human hide sometimes took a tanning.

this, Mr. Roddie said, lay in the fact that in 1959 the per capita consumption of the woollens was three yards. This has shrunk to two yards by 1958. Imports, his figures showed, were up from 12 million yards in 1950 to 17 million in 1958. Another trend in the trade noted was the fact that in 1960 the Canadian woollen textile industry supplied 88 per cent of Canada's requirements and by 1958 this percentage had shrunk to 48.

In his concluding words, Mr. Roddie said it was very important to have small industries scattered throughout the country to provide work for people — to avoid the necessity of young people having to break the family circle by going to larger centres for employment. "It is very important to maintain employment in places like Lindsay to keep alive the ideal way of life."

100% attendance record noted

Hydro Commissioner L. A. Waddell was the only member of the local body with a 100 per cent attendance record at meetings this year. It was revealed at the December meeting held Tuesday.

J. G. Baldwin missed one of the records shown. Other attendance figures were: Commissioner Lamb seven; Mayor Lloyd Burrows seven; the newest member of the Commission, Mr. H. Brown, has attended three meetings up to date. Mr. C. A. Cozens who tendered his resignation in August attended six meetings.

Members of the commission receive $8 each per meeting.

No room at the jail

Judging by information received this morning one of the busiest places in town these days is the County Jail.

It was revealed this morning that the "hole on the hill" is full to capacity at the present time. Commenting on the situation, Chief John Hunter pointed out that the three cells at the rear of the police office are at the present time vacant. Chief Hunter went on to remind any likely persons that the cells were not exactly a home away from home."

St. Joseph's Almae Holds Membership Coffee Party

In the gracious surroundings of St. Joseph's Academy, the Almae of St. Joseph's held a Membership Coffee Party on Sunday, December 6th. The guests were welcomed by Sister Gabriella, the Sister Superior, and by Miss Lucy Roche, President of the Almae. Memberships were received by Mrs. Walter Humphries, Membership Convener, and Mrs. W. E. Baker, Treasurer.

While delicious coffee, Christmas cake and cookies were being served, an informal two hours was spent chatting with the Sisters and friends, and enjoying the delightful piano selections played by Miss Anne Crowley. During the afternoon the guests were given an opportunity to visit the Science Room and inspect the new science equipment which the Almae had purchased during the past year for the use of the High School. This was done most capably by Sister Mary MacMillan.

The Coffee Party was convened by Mrs. Dan Cayley with the kind assistance of Sister S. Raymond. Serving the guests were Mrs. Molly Hawkes, Mrs. R. Burns, Mrs. J. Jamieson, Mrs. G. Gaudreau, Mrs. J. Minter, Mrs. S. Mahoney and Miss Jean O'Neill. Presiding at the table, which was attractively decorated in the Christmas motif, were Mrs.

BASEBALL NEWS

Baseball's elder statesman Branch Rickey made the big news at the winter meetings in Miami Beach, Florida, yesterday. Rickey, the president of the new Continental League, said his loop isn't going anywhere if the major leagues are permitted to continue what he called "monopolistic practices." Rickey said his league is now ready for the next step and he hinted that what he announced would be an appeal to Congress. The league announced that it Atlanta was the sixth team to join the present members New York, Denver, Houston, Toronto and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

CALLISON TRADED TO PHILLIES

Only one trade as the major league bigwigs gathered at Miami Beach yesterday. In that one the Chicago White Sox sent outfielder Johnny Callison to Philadelphia for Gene Press. Who hit 23 homers for the Phils last season. Callison started the season in left field for the Sox, but slumped at the plate and was sent to Indianapolis.

Lindsay men attend course at Detroit

Two members from the staff of Robin Farm Supply, Ltd. attended a one-week course at the Servo-Perman-Ferguson Service Training Centre at Detroit, Michigan.

Ernest Jordan and Earl Quackenbush have successfully completed a specialized service training in agricultural and industrial equipment. The purpose and function of the Massey-Ferguson Training Centre is to assist and train dealer service personnel in becoming the most efficient and hard-hitting service organization in the business. The management says customers of Robin Farm Supply will benefit by the advanced information received by these men on such items as diesel and gas mechanics, industrial hydraulics, and harvesting equipment.

Occupational Hazards. Television work has its occupational hazards for actor Alan Wheatley. Wheatley—who plays the villainous Sheriff of Nottingham in a televised Robin Hood series—says children climb trees around his house and fire arrows at him as he walks in the garden.

SEA CAPTAIN GIVES UP LONE FIGHT

A Finnish sea captain has given up his lone fight against the sea and abandoned his beached ship off the coast of Scotland. The skipper came ashore on a breeches buoy. The 65-year-old captain asked first refused.

FEAR NORSE FREIGHTER LOST

A Norwegian freighter and its 21-man crew are feared lost in the storm-tossed North Sea. The freighter "Eldrid" sent an SOS saying the crew was abandoning the ship which was sinking in waves three stories high. There is little hope the crew will survive the storm, which has swirled across Europe for the past three days.

BEVIE AIRLINER CLAIMED BY SEA

A commercial airliner with 46 persons aboard is feared lost in the sea. The Colombian airliner is overdue on a flight from a resort island to Santa America mainland. The plane carried three crew members and 43 passengers, most of them women and all Colombian blacks.

TUMULTUOUS WELCOME FOR EISENHOWER

President Eisenhower has capped a day of triumphs by receiving one of the biggest welcomes India has ever bestowed on a foreign visitor. The president landed in New Delhi at the end of a day which began in Karachi, Pakistan and featured a stop-over in Afghanistan on his whitened 11-nation tour. Prime Minister Nehru welcomed the president with a garland of flowers . . . the first of thousands Eisenhower had presented to him or thrown in his path.

DRUG INDUSTRY TO BE SCRUTINIZED

A Socialist member of parliament plans to bring the Canadian drug industry under sharp public scrutiny at the next session of parliament. Howard C. Brown, M.P. member of Skeena, British Columbia, says he favors a public probe similar to that underway in the United States by a senate subcommittee. The industry has been under quiet examination by the federal government for some two years.

REJECT RAILWAY REQUEST

The Royal Commission on Transportation has rejected a railway request for an interim report covering the statutory Crown Rail Pass grain rates. The commission yesterday also reaffirmed a decision of last September that evidence on general relations and alleged restrictive labor practices is inadmissible. The two major railways proposed a government payment on behalf of the western coast to bring the pre-1960 rates up to a "fair and reasonable" level. They claimed they lost more than $65-million last year moving grain at lower-than-cost rates.

Giant Manhunt Closes EASTERN U.S.

A giant manhunt for 19 escaped psychopathic convicts—the biggest in modern North Carolina history—spread throughout the entire eastern section of the U.S. In central North Carolina passes are making a house-to-house search for the heavily-armed convicts who escaped yesterday from the Byrd maximum security prison. State police authorities say all the men are psychopaths and very dangerous.

HURRICANE FORCE WINDS DAMAGE TASK FORCE

A navy spokesman in Halifax disclosed today that the task force consisted of the aircraft carrier "Bonaventure," destroyer escorts "Algonquin," "Iroquois," "Sloop" and "Athabasca." All reported under deck fittings carried away by the swells including one lifeboat lost and several others damaged.

FACTS FOR FARMERS

Some news of special interest

To our farm subscribers

HOG LICE

The hog is host to the large, parasitizing, virulent and domestic animals. The hog louse is the only species that attacks swine. It measures up to a quarter of an inch in length.

The hog louse is brownish grey in color, has a broad oval body, and six strong legs. The legs terminate in large claws which the insect uses to attach itself to the hairs of the host.

On an infected animal, lice are usually found in the folds of the skin on the neck, at the base of, and inside the ears, on the belly, and on the upper part of the inner sides of the legs.

They thrive on pigs at any age, and particularly those in close contact with each other. They do not live on other kinds of animals.

Hog lice are blood suckers and feed frequently, plucking the skin each time. Considerable more effective have come in.

The lice pass the entire life cycle on the pig. The female lays yellowish eggs which are attached to the hairs of the animal. In 10 to 14 days these eggs hatch and the young lice, which are similar to the adults, emerge and begin to feed hungrily. The young often bite the host close together, the lice easily pass from one to another. It is possible, however, for animals occasionally to become infested from the louse eggs that have dropped off and hatched on the litter.

In treating swine for lice, various types of oil have been used. These are applied as sprays or dips or in hog wallows. Crude petroleum oils are best used in hog wallows. More recently never insecticide which appears to be more effective have come in.

Edible Novelty
If there's a person on your gift list who lives alone, there's one sure way to brighten up his life for Christmas . . . give him an edible gift.
Home cooking is always appreciated and especially by the bachelor . . . the career girl, or the widow who doesn't want to bother putting for just herself.
One goodie that can be taken gift in itself . . . or used as a decoration on another gift package is the Christmas (one movable).
The edible novelty is made with nine cups of purified rice, 32 large marshmallows, two tablespoons of vanilla, one cup of light corn syrup and one teaspoon of vanilla.
Heat the purified rice in a shallow pan in a moderate, 350 degree oven for 10 minutes. They pour into a large, greased bowl.
Place the 32 marshmallows, three cups of the rice syrup in the top of a double boiler . . . put water in the lower part . . . and melt over a low heat. Stir until smooth, then blend in the one teaspoon of vanilla fragrance. Pour the marshmallow mixture over the heated purified rice, stirring to coat all kernels evenly.
Gress you hands well and form purified rice into balls. Then roll them in flaked or shredded coconut. Decorate with a few red cinnamon candies and wrap each snowball in saran. Tie with red ribbon or red-colored pipe cleaners and add to the gift package.

Always Welcomed
Traditional yuletide fruit cake and cookies are always welcomed. But what about a cooked roast with all the trimmings for the family of a woman who is or away at the holiday season?

Spice Balls
The old fashioned spice balls were delight young and old alike and they're made so easily. Just cover the entire surface of a ripe orange with whole cloves . . . Attach a decorative hanger or ribbon . . . And you have a useful and decorative addition to the gift list. The spice balls will help bring a delightful odor to the clothes hanging in the closet for months to come.

Holiday Aprons
The woman who knows can be a gift. Give her an apron. She'll run up some holiday aprons for gifts. Green organza forms perfect background for Modern research has discovered that early treatment of many diseases, before it ravages the body, can add years to life. If you depend less on self-treatment and visit your physician at the very first symptoms of an illness, the odds are you will live a longer, healthier life.

ONE NHL GAME SCHEDULED

The National Hockey League returns to action to-night with one game after two days rest. Boston is at Chicago in the lone contest. In the American Hockey League, Providence is at Buffalo. Last night, Quebec and Rochester battled to a 2-2 deadlock in an overtime period.

EASTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE

There are no games scheduled for the Eastern Professional Hockey League today. Yesterday the Royals and Hull-Quebec played a scoreless game, and Kingston clobbered Sudb. Sixe, Marie eleven to four.

JOHNNY TEMPLE TRADED

The Cincinnati Reds have traded off second baseman Johnny Temple to the Chicago Cubs. The In. Martin and first baseman Gordon Coleman to the Reds. BLAKE LOOKING FOR REVENGE

Coch. The Blues of the Montreal Canadiens said that Thursday's game against Toronto would be the logical time for the Habs to snap out of their present losing streak. "After all," he said, "it was these same Leafs who started us skidding two and a half weeks ago and maybe some of the fellows will remember that when we meet them Thursday."

FABULOUS OFFER TURNED DOWN

The Washington Senators got a fabulous offer for a couple of their stars yesterday, but owner Cal Griffith turned both bids down. General manager Gabe Paul of Cincinnati offered Griffith $500,000 for home run slugger Harmon Killebrew or pitcher Camilo Pascual. At the same time, general manager Joe McGraw of Pittsburgh said he had offered more than $500,000 in playing talent for Killebrew.

UNIVERSITY COACH RESIGNS

Doe Clark has resigned as head football coach at the University of Southern California after the school enjoyed one of its most successful seasons. Clark will be replaced by assistant coach John McKay, who signed a one-year contract. Clark resigned to take a position in private business. His team boasted an 8-2 record, losing only to UCLA and Notre Dame.

THREE BASKETBALL GAMES SCHEDULED

The National Basketball Association calendar has three games tonight. New York is at Syracuse, St. Louis at Detroit and Philadelphia at Cincinnati. Last night, Philadelphia wallpiped Cincinnati, 131 to 107, and St. Louis drubbed New York, 119 to 110.

ELLIS SEEKING NINTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

Youthful Rudy Ellis of Chicago will be seeking his ninth straight victory in a midweeklight scrap with Gene "Ace" Armstrong at Camden, New Jersey, tonight. Ellis, 22-year-old, has a 17-1-1 record. Armstrong, of Elizabeth, New Jersey, has lost only one fight.

Maroons Will Withdraw From OHA Senior "A"

The Chatham Maroons will pull out of the Ontario Hockey Association's "A" level "A" league because...
 President A. L. Hanna, "the fans are disappointed... the players are disappointed... and the club is sure several thousand dollars in debt."

"It's rather poor our debts," said Hanna, "than to go into bankruptcy like a lot of other clubs have done."

OHA officials will meet with Chatham officials today but Hanna says the club directors have made up their minds. The decision would leave only four teams in the OHA Senior League.

The Maroons played their last game at Windsor last night and were beaten 4-3.

Eight Former Ring Greats Elected to Hall of Fame

Former ring greats, eight all-time champion four years ago, and together, including moderns Rocky Marciano and Kid Chocolate, have been elected to boxing's hall of fame.

The six others in the list are oldtimers: Pete Herman, former world bantamweight champion from New Orleans; former flyweight champion Jimmy Wilde of Wales; Irish-born Tom Sharkey, an outstanding heavyweight contender for 60 years ago; George Lavigne of Bay City, Mich., lightweight champion before 1900; Jack Dillon, former light-heavyweight champion from Frankfort, Ind., who won the title in 1914, and John Gully, who became England's 22nd heavyweight champion in 1805 and was elected to Parliament in 1822.

Painful Gall Bladder
Cure For Gall Bladder
"Dear Dr. Steiner: Last summer I spent one week in hospital observation. I had lots of X-rays and my doctor said that I had a shrunken gall bladder that wasn't working properly. There were no stones. It hurt me most of the time. My doctor said that I have it removed. I am 65. May I have your opinion? Sincerely, Mrs. L., Washington."

Answer: Stones in the gall bladder are not the only indication for operation. A "non-functioning" gall bladder that produces pain and discomfort is also good reason for operation when medical treatment has failed.

Being 65 too old for surgery if your doctor has no physical reason why you can't undergo surgery. I have had patients who have had successful operation when in their seventies and eighties.

Eye Floaters
"Can you give me any advice on 'eye floaters'?" asks Mrs. C.H. of Arlington, Va. "I have consulted an ophthalmologist for this condition and he said there is nothing that can be done for it. I have been troubled with this for almost two years. It is now appearing in the other eye and makes me very nervous."

ANSWER: I'll duck my head as I say to you: "You'll have to learn to live with it." I know of no treatment for this condition. Be thankful it is nothing serious. Then you'll really have something to be nervous about.

Cigarettes Poison In This Case
For Y.Y. of Nashville, Tennessee. You have no choice. Cigarettes are "poison" for a patient with Burger's disease. Widespread Arteriosclerosis.

"Dear Dr. Steiner: Please explain to me what a wide spread arteriosclerosis is, and how it affects one. Mrs. R.A. Newark, N.J."

ANSWER: Blood vessels throughout the body lose their normal elasticity due to replacement of their elastic coats with layers of cholesterol, time and fibrous material.

Many people live into their 80's and 90's with generalized arterio sclerosis. This is because the arteries still are able to bring sufficient blood and nourishment to the various tissues all over the body.

However, when the smaller arteries that supply the kidneys, brain, heart and other vital organs become obstructed too much (arteriosclerosis), patients get symptoms referable to those organs. For example, when a coronary artery becomes shut off, the result is coronary thrombosis. When a brain artery gradually closes off, the patient has cerebral thrombosis.

Scientists all over the world are trying to fathom the mystery of arteriosclerosis. When we find a way of holding the line against it, people will be relative youngsters even when they reach the biblical severities.

More women in politics?

Lindsay R. R. 4,
December 15, '50

Editor:
The Daily Post.

Sir: More women in politics? What's for it? To give women more power, prestige, and prominence? Or is it to obtain legislation that has lagged behind, by the male element? Is it to withdraw responsibility from the men, and transfer it to women? Or, are women to etc. and the other is to let hubby be the man he ought to be and curl your hair for him—instead of the other fellow! Until we hear of some great cause being sponsored by women, we do not know just what more women will do in politics. Will they build up themselves or us. We wonder!

Canada is now the product of man's ingenuity and responsibility. What chance could women in politics make? Would they endorse man's recommendations, substitute their own personal opinions, or administer our constitutional laws by consulting us? Could they endure the strenuous duties that men carry, officer's arrival, the court was told.

The officer testified that the condition of both of the accused was "far from normal." After being lodged in the cell the prisoners started yelling and kicking the cell doors," said the officer.

O'Reilly told the court he was banging the door because he wanted to see someone.

Magistrate Moore said he wanted more corroborative evidence before passing sentence.

When the case was resumed later in the morning Police Sergeant Gordon Eberts testified that the accused smelted strongly of alcohol when they were brought into the office by Constable Mosley.

"McGuire told me to get my hands off him when I attempted to place him in the cell," the sergeant testified.

Finding both guilty, Magistrate Moore imposed a fine of $50 plus $18.50 costs upon McGuire or 38 days in default. The fine imposed upon O'Reilly was $100 plus costs or 60 days in default. The magistrate said he would treat the charge against O'Reilly as a second offence charge.

Meet Charlie, life of the party

Quite a guy, Charlie. Tall, handsome, everybody liked him — and Charlie was the life of the party whenever their crowd got together. Take Christmas. They were all there. It had been quite an evening. The party finally broke up around two-thirty. "See you all at our place tomorrow," called Charlie. But tomorrow never came for Charlie. He had made the mistake of having one more for the road. Oh, sure, he felt O.K. But he wasn't. Alcohol had dulled his reflexes and changed his attitude toward driving. At any other time Charlie could have avoided the accident. But this time he didn't move fast enough. What Charlie didn't realize was that a few ounces of alcohol had slowed his reflexes, impaired his ability and changed his driving attitude. Your Ontario Department of Transport asks you not to take that chance. If you intend drinking, don't drive. You'll have an easy conscience and a lot more fun.

New Slate of Officers

Bethany (PNS) — The W. M. S. of the United Church elected their officers for 1966 as follows: President, Mrs. Winifred Spencer; vice-president, Mrs. Edgar Bear; treasurer, Mrs. Herb. Coppins; secretary and press representative, Mrs. J. Jackson; Christian Stewardship and Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. Henry Johnson; Pianist and Citizenship convener, Mrs. Clarence Rowan; Temperance secretary, Mrs. Mervyn Purvis; Community and Friendship secretary, Mrs. Walter Rowland; Associate secretary, Mrs. G. Waddell; and Mrs. J. Fraser; Bab Band Leader, Mrs. Earl Weatherill.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George Waddell with Mrs. Clarence Rowan leading the devotional period, assisted by H. Coppins.

The treasurer reported a successful year financially with receipts in excess of the allocation.

Mrs. T. Jackson had charge of the study period on "The Continent of Africa" and spoke mainly on the situation in Southern Rhodesia, the youngest mission field. Her talk concerned the present political unrest and its fundamental causes; the impact of modern industry; the present racial tensions and the Christian churches obligation to social witness. In conclusion the speaker said "The Missionaries find themselves in a tension spot completely different from other areas where mission fields are established and resources are taxed to the uttermost. The keys of the future is Christ and His teachings."

At the close of the meeting the sisters served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Ladies Guild

The Ladies Guild of St. Paul's Church were entertained at the Rectory for their meeting. Instead of the customary exchange of Christmas gifts, each member gave a donation towards further furnishings in the kitchen of the Parish Hall.

Mrs. G. E. Meade led the devotional prayers and also reported for the Sunshine Committee.

The treasurer, Mrs. John Palmer, gave the report of the recent sale of home baking and the full financial statement for the year.

Mrs. Charles Smith, who headed a committee to purchase dishes for the kitchen, reported with prices, etc., and the purchase of same was left over until next month. It was decided to purchase flowers for Christmas decoration of the church. The sum of $100.00 will be given to the Wardens of the Church.

Mrs. G. E. Meade conducted the election of officers: President, Mrs. Morgan Bigelow; secretary, Mrs. Glenn West; treasurer, Mrs. John Palmer; auditor, Glenn Westworth.

Gray; Junior Auxiliary Leader, Mrs. Noel Wood, with Miss Roberta Scott as assistant; Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. Wm. Phillips; Miss Laura Hutchinson conducted the election.

Mrs. Roy Jarvis led the devotional prayers and Mrs. G. E. Meade read the scripture lesson.

The Treasurer gave the financial report for the year and

Wheat Crops

These days are good ones for reviewing what you'll be doing with wheat crops in the spring. The Ontario Department of Agriculture — through its information branch—is reminding that wheat needs nitrogen in the spring... and unless you've plowed under clover soil or planned to use manure on the field, your wheat will be needing nitrogen when growth starts next spring.

This observation comes from C. C. Matthews, soils researcher for the Ontario Department.

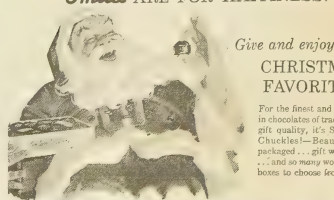

He says that if it's unusually hard to get on the field before early April in the spring, then apply that extra nitrogen any time before the snow gets too deep. If there's danger of runoff, apply before the ground freezes.

Also, the department suggests you cattle-down corn. Your loss in the field from picking can run as high as 12 per cent, according to the Ontario Department's Corn Scientists. If you run steers in the field after picking, you can recover much of the loss with extra profit with conversion to beef.

PARISH PRISONERS get out of their cell

Local Store — Zeller's Holds Christmas Party

The management and staff of Zeller's held their annual Christmas party in the banquet room of Vern Grady's restaurant last Saturday night, with 75 persons attending.

Considering the weather the entire staff was present when a turkey supper was served. The door prize was drawn during the banquet with Mrs. Chambers being the winner of a beautiful blanket.

Following dinner there was short talk by the manager, Mr. Glass and a few words from the assistant manager, Mr. Maurer. While the men were being cleared a sing song was enjoyed with everyone taking part.

Miss Marshall and Mrs. Wyllie with the help of Mr. Maurer arranged the program evening.

"It seems a shame"

24 Albert St. S., but also for the many people in Lindsay, who watch, should be brought to the attention of the public.

The People Write, Lindsay Daily Post. Dear Editor:

Being a hockey enthusiast and a young, new member of the community in Lindsay, I am definitely in favor of allowing hockey to be played on Sunday, and I think it is a pity that the city council does not more to promote this type of healthy pastime, on Sunday night with great disappointment, and through the week, there is no hockey to be played on Sunday night.

I would like to see bare comments from other people in Lindsay, who may or may not think the same way I do.

Yours truly, (Miss) Barbara Stanley.

AND ALL THROUGH THE COUNCIL CHAMBERS . . .

It was only a few nights before Christmas and the hockey fans of Lindsay were greatly concerned about the future of their favorite winter sport. They were concerned and were looking to the town's recreation committee for guidance.

An atmosphere of expectancy prevailed throughout the committee meeting of Town Council last night, especially among those members, who felt confident the problem would at least be discussed in view of the dramatic weekend developments. Right up until the moment the meeting was declared "adjourned" it was expected that the subject of the junior team's plight (it had been pulled out of action after Friday night's game), and the matter of Sunday hockey would at least be mentioned and some official pronouncement made.

This seemed especially necessary in view of the fact that Sunday hockey was allowed to proceed and then suddenly, without warning, it was pulled out of action.

Committee's inactivity aggravates councillors

"The fact that Mr. Doug Caruthers will come back to Lindsay may not be any surprise," declared Deputy-councillor, Mr. McGee, at Monday's meeting of Town Council.

Mr. Peirce said he felt someone should be appointed to the Committee of Adjustment as several people in town were being inconvenienced due to the non-operation of the committee. "Several citizen's cases as well as many builders have been inconvenienced for the sake of one man," Mr. Peirce declared.

The question being discussed at the time was whether Council should give Wilson Construction Ltd. permission to go ahead with the construction of two houses on Regent St. even though the lots are seven feet short of the required 50-foot frontage.

It was suggested by Councillor McQuarrie that Council should allow this building to go ahead, with the provision that on future occasions the applications go through the proper channels.

Mayor Burrows revealed the two lots had a total of 86 feet frontage. The mayor pointed out that the Wilson Construction had been made so that the company could qualify for a loan.

"If we don't give permission they will not go ahead with the building," stated his words.

It was the opinion of Councillor DeGroat that the Planning Board should be asked to request the Wilson Construction to be on the committee. The Councillor suggested the appointment be made at next week's meeting of Council.

On motion of Councillor McQuarrie the board will be asked to forward a copy of the Wilson Construction to be on the committee. The Councillor suggested the appointment be made at next week's meeting of Council.

Bride and Groom Feted

Pleasant Valley (PNS) — An enjoyable evening was spent in Cameron Hall recently when a number of neighbors, friends and relatives gathered in honor of newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. W. Pethick, (see Dianne Lee).

Dancing was enjoyed for a time. When everyone had gathered, the bride and groom were escorted to the platform to the strains of the wedding march, played by the band.

The bride was read by Mr. Wm. Brown and a money shower was presented to the happy couple by Mrs. S. McGee.

Mr. and Mrs. Pethick expressed their appreciation for the kind gesture.

Dancing was resumed until midnight.

Friends and relatives were present from Lindsay, Pleasant Valley, Woodville and Penelon Falls.

Noticed along the way

Some things which seem lost and almost disappeared of a way of turning up again safe and sound. The story is told today of a lady who lost a pendant bearing the likeness of St. Anthony. She was distraught because she placed much store by it and didn't wish to part with it. . . . She searched everywhere, seemingly in vain, and was on the point of concluding that it was forever lost but just at that moment the lost was found and there was great rejoicing in her heart.

C.W.L. Attends Regional Meeting

Kilmour (PNS) — Mrs. Peter Pearson, President of St. Patrick's C. W. L. and ten members of the association attended a meeting in Lakefield on Friday evening.

The meeting was held in the hall of the Oshawa C. W. L. and was attended by Mrs. Noble of Toronto, who spoke on the advantages of making a Christmas tree.

Retiree, E. B. Bishop, R. I. Webster was present and spoke on his recent trip to Europe.

St. Patrick's C. W. L. has completed plans for their Christmas tree and will be holding the tree in the Legion Hall at a later date.

The decision taken by the boys was not an easy one, especially when the myriad of problems which they were taken into account.

The boys initiated their were hoping that some merchant, service club or other organization would come forward and either sponsor them or offer the team assistance.

At Monday night's meeting held at the Recreation Centre, team captain Ken Anderson was appointed coach of the team.

Paul Prester was named secretary and Don Jackett is the treasurer.

First game for the boys will be Saturday next when they will travel to meet Baccara Group.

Speaking with Recreation Chairman Gordon Pepper this morning, "The Post" learned that a meeting will be held Thursday at which time negotiations regarding ice will be discussed.

Meanwhile the 20 or so boys connected with the team are making efforts to secure hockey equipment and are in readiness for the game.

Can the boys do it? That was the question "The Post" posed when it reported that the boys were going to play hockey with sport in the town today. The gentleman in question was going to be a tremendous help in the team's efforts.

He felt if the sports-minded citizens of Lindsay and surrounding areas get behind the team the boys could do it.

They had received letters from Messrs. Lawson and Cunningham, he added.

He would like to see the members for any citizen wishing to help the club was issued and the boys said last night they would be ready to go.

Ensign. This paper would be fully recruited. Interested parties are asked to contact any information to Mr. Payne.

FREE FREEDOM ENTAILS RESPONSIBILITY

Volumes are currently being written on the subject of free press. Much of this writing amounts to little more than a play upon words.

Essentially, freedom of the press entails and imposes responsibility on the part of those who constitute the press. . . If there are suggestions that freedom of the press should be inhibited, the press should subject itself to serious self-examination as to the value of eliminating those things which prompted the suggestions.

Even those with half an eye could see that the press (and we include radio and television news media) was tending to drift from its intended mission, that of presenting the facts of news developments to the public. Personal opinion, distortion of facts, blurring and slanted reporting do not come under this heading. But they have been indulged and too extensively. The end product of this sort of thing is the cause of the current distrust in press freedom.

The truth shall make and keep us free was never more applicable to anything than it is to the world's press. No one can take issue with an honest, unbiased report of the facts, coupled with the use of discretion in any given situation. It is the responsibility of a free press to continue freedom by dealing with the facts as they are unfolded on any issue. If the press does this, it should rightly expect to remain free and all other of anything which may threaten that status.

ALL OR NOTHING?

The decision of the Night Raiders' hockey team management to pull the team out of play because Sunday afternoon hockey is looked upon with disfavor by Arena administration has caused many people concern. In the light of comments following the decision, two things emerge: (1) There is a considerable segment of the townpeople in favor of permitting hockey on Sunday (without admission charge), and (2) a strong feeling exists that the team's management should not adopt an "all or nothing" attitude and deprive hockey fans of their sport on one point of disagreement.

The proponents of Sunday afternoon hockey endorse the idea of the reason being that just a desire to see the hockey played on the Sabbath. Among other things, these persons hold that there is something to be said in favor of having people, especially young people, attend a hockey game on Sunday afternoon as opposed to loitering around restaurants, prowling the streets or sitting in cars doing nothing in particular. They also point to such things as the money being "going to the bank, heating, golfing, and so forth in summer and ask these things are permissible, why not hockey?

However, throughout the whole discussion, one point seems to be overlooked: the whole discussion (one point or otherwise) [what? here?]. This it would seem, ought to be determined before any decision should or can be reached.

There is another point which seems to have been overlooked but which should be examined. We refer to the fact that Sunday hockey at the Arena was not officially protested until after the election. It is there any significance to this? Would it not have been better to have "loved the boom" at the outset rather than permit a situation to develop and then act? Can anyone deny that there was plenty of advance notice to the effect that Sunday hockey was going to be played? In the meantime, while the public outcry may be temporarily stirred by withdrawing the hockey team, possibly in the hope of forcing a showdown, a more general and lasting public sympathy would be engendered by continuing to keep the team playing. The issue is being dealt with. . . It would be a mark of good sportsmanship.

"I AM THE PRINTING PRESS"

I am the Printing Press, born of the mother earth. My heart is of steel, my limbs are of iron, and my fingers are of brass. I sing the songs of the world, the oratories of history, the symphonies of all time.

I am the voice of today, the voice of tomorrow. I weave into the warp of the past the web of the future. I tell the stories of peace and war alike. I make the human heart beat with passion or tenderness. I stir the pulses of nations and make brave men do brave deeds. When I speak, a myriad people listen to my voice. The Saxon, the Latin, the Mongolian, the Hindu, all comprehend me. I am the record of all things mankind has achieved. My offspring comes to you in the candle's glow, amid dim lamps of poverty, the splendour of riches, at sunrise, at high noon, and in the waning evening. I am the laughter and tears of the world, and I shall never die until all things return to the immanent dust. I am the printing press.—Robert H. Davis.

Ed. Note: The above appeared immediately below the masthead of the Edmonton, Alberta newspaper "Today and Tomorrow" when Mr. P. J. Rowe of Janerville was its editor back in 1936. Its message has not altered with the passage of years nor is it likely to in the future.

WORRIES DIMINISHED

There is a popular tendency to feel that anything new is better than anything old and bound to replace it, if the two things compete.

But it isn't necessarily so. The rapid acceptance of radio, years ago, brought prophecies that newscasting would eliminate newspapers.

Then came television at a better advertising medium than radio and the diversion of advertising revenue into phone channels worried many a newspaper publisher.

Worries have diminished. Newspapers, both as purveyors of information and as advertising mediums, have never more thoroughly entrenched than today.

Much the same alarm has come to those interested in letterpress printing—come and gone. Offset and other competing processes are making good gains. Letterpress, the traditional and oldest process is gaining faster.—The Certified News

Republished report incurs plant manager's displeasure

History repeated some press for a clear-up of the times be troublesome. Mr. Watson of Knitters Ltd. is convinced that some history would be just as well left unpublished.

On Friday, reference was made by "The Post" to the fact that back in May, 1958, Health Board Chairman Mark, shall Stephens was quoted in this paper as having said that "The Knitters Ltd. plant on Logie St. is where a lot of stuff comes from, but we can't stop them from dumping raw bish into the river. When I walked down back I could see nothing at all." Mr. Stephens was referring to an alleged water pollution problem which he had been investigating.

He asked for a retraction. In the wake of Mr. Wood's "The Post" contacted Mr. Stephens who confirmed what the plant manager had said bish into the river. When I walked down back I could see nothing at all." Mr. Stephens was referring to an alleged water pollution problem which he had been investigating.

"The Post" regrets that this fact was not included in the republishing of the extract from the 1958 files.

Sparks Of Wisdom

Self

In every part and corner of the world, to lose one's self is to be a failure, to forget one's self is to be happy.

Robert Louis Stevenson

Editorial

NUMEROUS PEOPLE . . .

Numerous people have commented on the beautiful Christmas lighting effort to be seen in Lindsay's residential areas on these much better Christmas. It is surprising how many persons have taken time out to take paper and say how much they enjoy viewing these colorful creations as they travel through the town. Having viewed many of them, we feel a special word of praise due those residents who have helped dress the town up for Christmas.

It is unfortunate that more has not been done to brighten up the town's main street. Several citizens have remarked about the absence of decorative lighting on Kent St. They point out that other places, some of them much smaller than Lindsay, make their main thoroughfares extremely attractive at this season by spinning them with row upon row of colored lights.

In reality it is not so long ago that Lindsay used to employ colored lights to brighten up its downtown area but after years of being ticked around by local politicians, they were out and were never replaced. If someone correctly, they were discarded as an economy measure. Perhaps this colored lack of color on the main street will inspire some member of the 1990 Council to see that it is different next year.

Matters of special interest

NO DREAMLESS SLEEP HERE

The line in the Christmas Carol "Above The Deep and Dreamless Sleep" doesn't exactly hold true under current conditions in the Holy City of Bethlehem.

On the way of Bethlehem is crowded with 12-thousand refugees with empty stomachs . . . impoverished people who live in camps on the outskirts of Bethlehem. There is the tense situation between the Arab and the Jews separated by a mere 13 miles.

Another part of the Christmas Carol does hold true—that is "The Hope and Fears of All the Years Are Not in This Tangle". For in this world where Christ was born, the Christians of the world will celebrate the Birth of the hopes of all the years on Christmas Day.

There is tension in the area but the hair trigger readiness will mark time for the celebration of the coming of Christ. The Arabs and the Jews are co-operating to help the "Christmas Eve" Christmas. The colorful ritual runs on December 24th, Christmas eve, through January 15th.

Every faith will celebrate Christmas in its own way. On one of Christmas Eve the Roman Catholic priestly will leave Jerusalem for the trip to Bethlehem. A High Pontifical Mass will be held at midnight in the Catholic Church at St. Catherine's.

The 16-thousand Christmas Arabs living in Israel are permitted to enter Jordan for 48 hours before returning home.

On Christmas Eve the Protestants will hold an evening Carol service, the songs being sung in both English and Arabic. This will take place on the field of the Shepherds where, as the hymn says "The Shepherds Watched Their Flocks By Night".

The Roman Catholic Mass is climaxed by a procession during which the Image is carried out of Saint Catherine's Church in the Grotto of The Nativity. The Image of the Christ Child is placed in the manger in the Grotto and the Star of the East placed overhead. Greek Orthodox Christians celebrate Christmas at the same place on January 7th and the Armenian Christians on January 19th.

For most of the year the Holy Land is a turbulent place—but the next few weeks will find it literally a spot of "Peace On Earth and Good Will Toward Men".

MEDICAL MAILBAG Medical Use of Alcohol Has Helped Many Patients

I recall a clergyman's wife who became angry with me because I suggested that her husband take an ounce or two of liquor daily to cut down the number of his anginal attacks. He was taking about 20 microcaine tablets a day with but little relief.

A month later she returned to say how sorry she was for allowing her "thinking about alcohol" to bring some benefit to her husband's comfort and almost constant pain. At last they had agreed to bring some brandy into their house. After taking a tablespoonful four times a day (about two ounces) he required only less than a half-dozen nitroglycerine pills to keep him comfortable.

In spite of hundreds of examples of the effectiveness of alcohol as a medication in many conditions and realizing that the dangers of habituation doctor who prescribe it will continue to receive complaints from people who are against it on "moral grounds".

"Dear Dr. Steinhilber: I always read your column in our local paper. I am sorry that for once I must disagree with you on the medical use of alcohol."

"You say you are against it on moral grounds. I am not a moralist and that you recognize the potential dangers of alcoholism. You also say that you have had experience with alcohol as a medicine."

"You say that in 25 years in treating coronary patients you do not recall one case in which problem drinking followed your prescription of an ounce or two, never more of alcohol in patients who benefited from taking it."

"Have you ever seen any of your patients measure out an ounce or two? Almost without exception, patients usually measure out a pint or two before the day has gone unceremoniously. Then almost without exception, you have a drunkard. Mr. T.S."

COMMENT: Shall we not then prescribe morphine for a man in terrible pain? Or phenobarbital tablets for the patient who needs them to tide him over a crucial situation? Or desamine when indicated? Or scores of other drugs that help us in treating human beings?

Who is it that we won't occasionally be confronted with an addiction problem? Shall we refuse succor to the man who needs them to tide him over a crucial situation? Or desamine when indicated? Or scores of other drugs that help us in treating human beings?

(All me stubborn, or worse. Mr. T.S., but I shall continue to prescribe alcohol when it is indicated. After weighing all the pros and cons in the individual case, I'll leave my chances that my patient will not be taking a pint or more by the end of the day—rather than the two ounces I have prescribed.)

Pencilin Reaction
From Mrs. L. T. of Jersey City, New Jersey, comes this note: "My seven-year-old son had a slight cold a few weeks ago. I insisted that my doctor

OBITUARY

Hannah Staples

Following a lengthy illness Hannah Staples died at Friday, Dec. 11th in Spring Lawn Private Hospital, Lindsay.

Mrs. Staples aged 81 years, was born in Bethany, daughter of John Staples and his wife, the former Mary Ann Tague. She attended the local public school. Port Hope High School and graduated from Toronto Normal School. She taught in the public St. at Bethany, Falls School, Lindsay and Orillia before going to Toronto where she served for 21 years in the Devon Street School.

Returning to living in Bethany, she was a faithful member of the United Church and its women's organizations and taught in the Sunday School. She was actively involved in U.I. work and was president of the local branch for several years.

Immediately surviving her husband, Mrs. Elizabeth Staples of Peterborough and her son, brother John G. Staples of Lindsay.

There was a large attendance at her funeral service held from the United Church, Lindsay, with Mr. William Duff officiating.

Mrs. C. Rowan as the organist and the choir in attendance.

pallbearers were Harry Hutchinson, Lindsay; Gordon Smith, Cayton; Donald Lowes, Lindsay; William Duff, Lindsay; Mrs. C. Rowan and William Rowan.

There were many beautiful floral tributes from organizations, friends and relatives including one from Pre-Deceased, whom she has taught during his boyhood years in Orillia.

Burial was in the family plot at Cavan Ninth Lane Cemetery.

give him a shot of penicillin. The doctor objected but gave when I said I'd get it somewhere.

"A terrible little son he had and his entire body was covered with a rash and he suffered excruciating itching. I warn other 'silly mothers'."

COMMENT: This letter emphasizes the point I have tried to make here often. Don't use penicillin for ordinary colds. It is of no value in aborting them. Why take the unnecessary chance of having a serious penicillin reaction needlessly?

Christmas Suggestions

Table decorations you make yourself always seem to draw more comment and compliments than the ones you buy. Decorate by sticking the white poppers into the vine of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, are Christmas

Records Can Be The Ideal Gift

The Christmas holiday brings with it a wealth of stately rhythmic and heart-warming music. Even pop tunes add notes of listening pleasure. And, gift recordings can expand that pleasure through the whole year.

Music lovers this Christmas have a special treat awaiting them in stereophonic sound, the new tonal magic now available for home high fidelity music systems.

pieces of popcorn for the very top. Pale green candles to match the icing are effective, though you can change the color scheme to suit yourself. Use glittering sequins or tinsel to decorate your trees. If you prefer

A crusty, long loaf of French bread turns in the refrigerator will provide insurance against shortages if unexpected company turns up during the holidays. To prepare, cut down almost to the bottom crust diagonally, every two inches for the length of the loaf. Spread the pieces apart just enough to butter each one or slip in a slice of cheese. You can season the butter with garlic, one of your favorite herbs, or poppy seeds. If you choose. Then press the loaf together, wrap it in aluminum foil, and put it in the oven, at 350 degrees, for ten minutes or so.

After a day or so of over-indulgence, a fruit platter or tray for dessert never looked or tasted better, you may be sure. Drain canned pears, peaches, pineapple or apricots until they are quite dry, then chill, slice bananas; cut plenty of red-skinned apples into eighths, leaving the seedling on; cut green, purple and red grapes in small bunches; include dried fruits; stuff prunes with cottage cheese and nuts. Assemble on a large tray or platter and garnish with red currant and cranberry relish, candied ginger, figs, dates, raisins and nuts. Place a bowl of whipped cream dressing and another bowl of cottage cheese alongside the platter and arrange a tray of assorted cheese nearby.

Has Christmas Lost Its True Meaning?

Today many say that Christmas has lost its true meaning. HAS IT?

It is wrong this one time in the year to make the dominating theme of one giving rather than receiving? Giving has always been the major part of the Christmas theme . . . the giving of joy and happiness to others.

Giving will remain one of the great joys of Christmas for all time to come. The idea has survived through the centuries and nothing will ever stop it. What, after all, brings more joy than seeing people happy?

The big problem usually is the question of what to give. Of course everybody likes to receive many gifts, as much as he'd like to give as many as possible.

Sometimes, however, the budget seems not large enough to give something that makes a good, solid, year-round gift.

 economical way.
 "The Committee deems it advisable and recommends to the Council that management and operation of the arena be moved from the responsibility of the Recreation Commission, and that a separate committee be appointed to manage and operate the arena. It is also recommended that this Arena Management Committee conduct a survey into the need for other facilities in the Town of Lindsay, and that the committee continue to explore the possibility of renewing the arena in the same or another suitable location. Incorporating in any new building whatever other reasonable facilities may be needed by the Town for the future."
 "It is also recommended to the Council that serious consideration be given and the necessary money appropriated! In next year's budget to permit the lighting, fencing and provision of drinking and toilet facilities in the playgrounds where such facilities are needed, and to these installations can be made by the Recreation Commission and the Parks Board."
 "Regarding finances, the Committee has tried to be careful and economical this year, making only those expenditures which have been absolutely necessary. The complete month would be a balance sheet, but we have not had that yet. It is the hope of your Committee that you may approve some of our efforts in this respect. We have sincerely tried to render faithful service. We hope we may have had a foundation for a better future, and that this report may help justify our actions and clarify some of the misunderstandings which have been prevalent."

FACTS FOR FARMERS

Some news of special interest to our farm subscribers
Mink Rations
 The Department of Agriculture in Ottawa has released some information that will be of interest to Canadian mink farmers.
 It says that chicken waste and fish can be used to replace 60 per cent of mink meat in standard mink rations during the breeding and reproductive season.
 Dr. C. K. Gunn of the department's experimental fur ranch at Summerside, P.E.I., says that comparatively small amounts were obtained in breeding activity of male and female mink, the number of kits per litter, the survival of the kits to weaning date, and that there were 143 kittens born to 30 female minks in 1958.
 The chicken waste-fish supplement ration, as compared with 115 on the control ration contained 115 per cent more meat.
 No significant differences were recorded in average bodyweights taken in January and March of this year for the control and experimental groups of mink.
 Several analyses showed that chicken waste to be significantly higher in fat and lower in protein than fish which had about the same amount of these nutrients as horse meat.
 The fish was frozen storage equal parts and flounders in equal parts while the chicken waste consisted of dehydrated, best-free quality fish, intestines, ovaries and developing eggs, but no feet, heads or liver.
 The experimental ration was cheaper than the control ration.
 So if you're a mink you want to feed cheaply during in-

 But further study says the department, shows that 1,411,000 chicks have also been hatched for broiler production in 1959, while in 1958 there were only 774,000 hatched as broilers.

Press paid tributes by Mayor, Council

Mayor Lloyd Burrows, speaking at the conclusion of the final meeting of the 1959 Council on Tuesday evening, paid tribute to the fine and extremely fair coverage given the Council meetings by the press.

"We have had our share of publicity both good and bad, and I would like to thank the newspapers for the fair manner in which they have reported Council meetings," declared the Mayor.

The Mayor said he was sorry to see Councilor MacCallister coming to the end of his tenure of office. He said he felt the Council had made a good contribution in his two years on Council.

Councillor MacCallister, replying to his worship, said he enjoyed immensely his work as a Councillor of the town. He wished the 1960 Council good luck and said he hoped they had a busy but fruitful year.

Councillor Jos. Hutton said that although the Council had been accused of being complacent this was far from the truth. "We settle all our differences around this table, we do not take them home with us," declared the speaker.

Mr. Hutton said he felt Council had a good year. "We are all working man doing our best for the betterment of Lindsay," said the Councillor.

Councillor Jas. MacCallister, paying tribute to the diligent manner in which the press had recorded the Council proceedings, said he would like to pay tribute to the fine assistance he received from Town Engineer J. N. Timberlake.

Mr. MacCallister said it requires a great deal of perseverance to sit in Council all year.

Chief urges local drivers get on Safe-Tea Cup wagon

During the three-week period which commenced December 15th and ending January 15th, Lindsay will be participating with other communities across Canada for the honor of receiving the Most Progressive City Safe-Tea Cup Awards. This was announced by Police Chief John Hutton today.

This award is to be presented by the Tea Council of Canada, as part of its annual safe driving program. It is given to the community showing the most improvement in traffic safety during the critical Christmas and New Year holiday season.

"It will be a great credit to all of us if Lindsay is among the winners," the Chief declared, adding, "More important by far than the distinction of being awarded the trophy, however, will be the results in terms of lives spared and property left undamaged."

"Therefore, I implore all our citizens, not only drivers but pedestrians, too, to pay close attention to the rules of traffic safety during the holiday period. Perhaps we shall be among the winners. But even if we are not, the effort will be well worthwhile in helping to curb the accident toll that brings tragedy into so many Canadian homes at this time of year."

Boxing Day civic holiday

At Tuesday's December meeting of Lindsay's Council, December 22, Boxing Day, was declared a civic holiday for the town of Lindsay.

A request from the T. Eaton Co. Ltd.'s Lindsay store for the removal of three parking meters from York Street N. W. was referred to the 1960 Police Committee for its report.

Tenders for a new police cruiser were referred to the 1960 Police Committee for its report.

Girls' choir will open talent series

It was learned this morning that a local firm is sponsoring a series of radio programs starting this Christmas to focus public attention on the talents of Lindsay children.

Declining to be identified with the project at the moment, the company indicated the programs will be broadcast over CKLY Lindsay and will number four or five yearly . . . Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving and so forth.

The girls' choir of St. Joseph's Convent is to be heard at 8 p.m. Christmas Day.

Juniors romp to 9-2 victory

The Lindsay Juniors romped to a 9-2 victory over Bobogoon in a Junior "B" hockey game played at the Canington Arena Tuesday evening.

There was no scoring in the first period but the locals went to town in the second and third periods, their fast skating tearing wide gaps in the visitors' defensive unit.

The party took the form of a Snowball Meeting with each lady very capably performing the item contained in a "colon snowball".

Mrs. H. Rahm led in the first carol which was "Silent Night". Miss Dorothy Syne offered this opening prayer, and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

The scripture lesson, The Christmas Story, was read from St. Luke by Mrs. C. Carr after which Mrs. T. Langley read "What I Like Most About Christmas".

Mrs. Sidde read a beautiful poem entitled "Let Us Keep Christmas", and Mrs. Carr read the minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. F. Langley led the ladies in singing "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear", followed by a heart-warming poem entitled "Two Gifts", by Mrs. A. Rhodes.

Mrs. Humphries read "A Recipe for Making Snow", and the carol "Away in the Manger" was followed by a lovely Christmas Meditation read by Mrs. Stevens. Mrs. Wilson offered "A Christmas Eve Prayer".

The Home Leaguers then joined in playing delightful games and gifts were exchanged. Each member brought a small portion of her own home made Christmas specialty, and this provided a very dainty and beautiful lunch.

The lunch was served by Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Humphries and Mrs. Carr.

Prepare Silver
Before the holiday enterprising season gets under way, one thing you can do is get your best china and silver ready for use. After washing and cleaning, dishes and silver, wrapped in household saran film to keep them free from dust and tarnish, can be put away ready for company at a moment's notice.

Practical Symbol
As a practical symbol, snowmelt installations may soon become a winter substitute for the swimming pool. These consist of pipes buried in the surface material through which heat is circulated to melt the snow. The efficiency of snowmelt systems has recently been demonstrated by the development of an ethylene glycol heat transfer medium specially developed for this use.

A Recipe for a Merry Christmas Subject of Christmas Meeting

Robcaygeon (PNS)—The regular meeting of Trinity United Church W.A. Robcaygeon was held in the Sunday School room. The president read a Christmas prayer, which was followed by a carol and the Lord's Prayer. The minutes were read and approved and the correspondence dealt with. Also a letter from the Ontario Hospital, Smith's Hospital, mentioned by Mrs. Lister, it was decided to send articles to the children at the hospital from Robcaygeon and also include extra parcels to be distributed to any child not receiving a gift. Mrs. Parry and Mrs. Geo. Bick to do the purchasing and see that they are sent on their way. The roll was called and the treasurer gave her report. The Welfare convener mentioned sending sympathy and get well cards during the month and 16 visits were made to homes and seven to hospitals by the members.

Glen Taylor at this point rendered two piano selections. Both were beautifully played and much enjoyed.

Mrs. H. Simson occupied the chair for the devotional portion of the program. The subject, "Perfect Harmony". And above all these, put on love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony."

Mrs. H. Simson read a scripture lesson. The top exclamation and prayer as given in the W.A. booklet, were read in unison.

Mrs. Morrison gave a Christmas message, "A Recipe for Merry Christmas". There are three ingredients, first—All friendships in good repair. We must rid ourselves of all grudges and grievances, all the hard and uncharitable feelings which poison our system in relation to others. Secondly—Getting right with people will always involve getting right with God. It will help us give a little of ourselves with our gifts because we love and care and because God made the first Christmas Day by giving the greatest of all His gifts. Thirdly—We must put Christ into Christmas and it will have more meaning than other festivals. It will carry beyond the glamour and festivity of the season, the hallowed memory of the birthday of a King, whose name will give the joy and the lift it is intended to bring and help us to become the kind of person we wish to become.

Rev. C. R. Hopkins took charge of the elections. Mrs. Parry and Mrs. G. Bick, the nominating committee appointed at the November meeting brought in a slate of officers for the year 1954. These were unanimously voted in: Past President, Mrs. O. Taylor; Vice President, Mrs. O. Coulter; 1st Vice President, Mrs. J. Wilkins; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. J. Johnson; 3rd Vice President, Mrs. H. Simson; Secretary, Mrs. W. Thurston; Treasurer, Mrs. C. Kerr.

Mrs. Hopkins on behalf of the members thanked the 1953—1954 executive, especially Mrs. Taylor, the president, for her splendid work during the past two years.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. O. Taylor, with the committee in charge of the program and refreshments, Mrs. H. Bruce, Mrs. C. Kerr and Mrs. G. Bick.

The meeting closed with prayer, after which a social time was spent with sandwiches, cookies and Christmas cake were served along with a cup of tea.

TURKEY SHOOT TIME

This is the time of the "turkey shoot." From now until Christmas in the rural areas of southern Ontario, hundreds of Ontario Marksmen—and women—will turn out to fire at targets or buy raffle tickets in an effort to obtain a Christmas bird. The shoots are encouraged by Dept. of Lands and Forests, inasmuch as they help reduce the pressure on the hunting of wild birds.

Many of the shoots are sponsored by fuh and game progressive associations and service clubs as a means of making money for their particular projects, most of them charitable. Given the proper organization and reasonable weather, there's money in the turkey shoot.

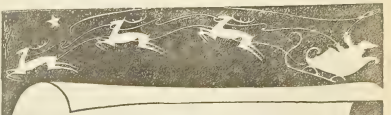

One of the most attractive features: No matter how good you are, or how good your equipment, it doesn't necessarily follow that you'll win a turkey by shooting for it. The man or woman, who never fired a shotgun in his or her life has just as good chance as the most expert.

Let's visit a typical southern Ontario shoot. This one took place on the farm of W. G. Newman, about 23 miles east of Toronto. It was sponsored by the Rouge Hills-Pickering Lions Club and operated by the Pickering Rod and Gun Club. Shooting began at 12:30 p.m. and continued until dark.

Two targets were set up in metal holders with the hedges numbered, about 15 feet from the firing line. Safety precautions suggested by Lands and Forests in hunter safety course were followed closely. There were no loaded guns except those actually being fired—and pointed at the target. In a nearby shed, a long row of plucked but undressed turkeys. Elsewhere, women of the club were busy serving coffee and refreshments.

Admittedly there's a gimmick which prevents anyone from taking undue advantage of his or her skill with a shotgun. The operators of the shoot provide the shells. That's the secret. The shells are loaded with No. 7½ shot—about 150 very light pellets per load. That means that they scatter and in many cases fail to "carry" to the target. The marksmen advance to the firing line and are given one shell which, in most cases, is actually inserted in the breach for them. There's a leaning rail to give added stability, but it really doesn't mean much. The shot is fired. A whistle is blown at the firing line, guns are checked to see that they are unloaded and two "bait" men who have been hidden behind the stone foundation of a barn then pick up the targets, each of which has been numbered to correspond with the name of the marksmen. The pellet holes are counted and the winner is the marksmen who has most pellet holes in the coloured target. Seventeen or eighteen (out of the 150 pellets we're shell) strike the target—if you're lucky.

Angels
Christmas decorations that cost a lot of buy can be made very inexpensively at home from Styrofoam, the plastic foam material available in a variety of shapes and sizes. An example is stylized angels made from triangles and other materials needed are: toothpicks for eyes, head to body; gold spray paint, angel hair, sequins for hair and mouth and gold metallic paint for wings attached with pins. Two or three of these angels make a striking table or mantle decoration.

Christmas Atmosphere Surrounds Auxiliary Meeting

A beautiful Christmas atmosphere was achieved in the lower hall of Cambridge St. United Church for the December meeting of the afternoon auxiliary of the W. M. S. This was created by a lighted Christmas tree, a large snow globe, a candelabra of lighted red candles and the playing of Christmas carols by the pianist, Mrs. D. Fulton.

The retiring president, Mrs. Graham, presided for the opening exercises and the business period. The minutes of the November meeting were read by the secretary. The treasurer's report showed $975 already raised. Mrs. Golden expressed the year's appreciation to the members for having received the allocation of $950 and also voiced her thanks to the Evening Auxiliary for their contribution of $150 and to the afternoon W. M. S. for $100 toward this allocation.

Mrs. Murdy reported "Get Well" cards sent to Mrs. Robt. Hope and Mrs. Betts and a sympathy card to Mrs. Moxon in the loss of her father, also 16 Christmas cards to sick and shut-ins. Mrs. F. Weldon presided for the devotional period, opening with carol No. 47, "O Come All ye Faithful." The offering was received by Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Weldon and dedicated by singing "We give Thee but This Ours." A beautiful solo, "The Chiming Bells of Heaven" was rendered by Mr. Percy Skitch accompanied by Mrs. Skitch. The Christmas story from Luke 2, was read by Mrs. Weldon followed by prayer by Mrs. McEwan.

A very appropriate Christmas message for "Refugee year" was delivered by Rev. K. McLean who based his remarks on the verse from Matthew, "For we have seen His star in the East." He said, this is the motto that expresses all we try to do. In days of darkness and sorrow, stars shine more clearly against the darkness." He shared with his listeners a commentary on the Christmas story "The Valley of the Shadow" from the pen of a German Lutheran minister, who told what Christmas meant to him in prison in 1944 when he shared a cell with a violinist. Mr. McLean said there are 16 million of these refugees living in the world and the money we raise at Christmas goes to help these people.

Mrs. Weldon thanked Mr. McLean for his splendid message. She also announced that Miss Dunoon is confined to bed again and will be in town for Christmas.

Mrs. Graham in visiting the chair, thanked the members for their co-operation throughout the year after which Mrs. Golden presented Mrs. Graham with a gift for her year's service as president.

Mr. McLean then installed the following officers for 1940: President, Mrs. E. Dunoon; Past President, Mrs. E. McLean; Past Pres. Mrs. W. E. Graham; President Mrs. W. E. Rogers; 1st Vice Mrs. Graham; 2nd Vice Mrs. G. Greaves; Rec. Sec. Mrs. E. Weldon; Corr. Sec. Mrs. S. Murdy; Treas. Mrs. Chas. Golden; Christian Stew. Sec. Mrs. G. White; Christian Stew. Sec. Mrs. E. Thompson; Comm. Friend: Mrs. C. Dalton; Supply: Mrs. McEwan; Assoc. Members: Mrs. P. Skitch; Miss Moxon; Mrs. F. Weldon; Literature: Mrs. S. Dir; Press: Mrs. L. Scott; Plan. Sec. Mrs. D. Fulton; Nominating Comm. Mrs. Stone; Mrs. Moxon; Mrs. Golden; Finance: Mrs. Rogers; Mrs. Graham; Mrs. White; Mrs. Weldon; and Mrs. Golden.

Mrs. Rogers then took the chair and closed the meeting with "Silent Night" and the benediction by Mr. McLean, after which the committee in charge served sandwiches and Christmas cake and a social time was enjoyed.

Values at Christmas Theme of Meeting

Janesville.—(PNS)—A very pleasant Christmas meeting of the Janesville W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. H. Moxon. The meeting opened with the Ode, the minutes were read and approved and the correspondence read.

The usual donation is to be sent to the Sick Children's Hospital, a get-well card to Mrs. Tall in Civic Hospital, Peterboro and a birthday card to Mary Lou Walker, were signed by members. Also remembrances to each. The motto for the day, "Putting Christ Back in Christmas", a real challenge in this commercialized age. Mrs. R. Wright gave the treasurer's report—the proceeds from the turkey supper and sale were very gratifying.

The program convener, Mrs. Wright, called upon Mrs. McEwan to read the Christmas scripture lesson. Mrs. E. Bradburn, Mrs. Malcolm, Mrs. M. Mullen, and Mrs. Moxon, all contributed Christmas readings and several carols were sung. Mrs. Sonerville then gave a line address with accompanying Christmas story theme "On what do we base our values at Christmas—time, material values, or spiritual values? Sharing, self-denial and creating love" was Mrs. Sonerville's definition of the Christmas spirit. The beautiful "Silent Night" concluded the program.

A couple of contest prizes by Mrs. McEwan were much enjoyed. The meeting closed with the Mary Stewart Collect.

The roll was called and the Christmas exchange took place. Lunch was served by Mrs. O. English, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Moxon. Mrs. Johnston expressed the thanks of all for the hospitality received, to the lunch hostesses and those participating in the program.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Never in your life, Madam—in all your 20 years—have you had such an opportunity!"

The Songs of Christmas

They vary in mood
and historical significance

The songs of Christmas vary in mood and historical significance. Some of the most inspiring words and music are those about the simple majesty of the Nativity.

The graceful hymn "I Came upon the Midnight Clear" is more than 100 years old. It was written by a Massachusetts Unitarian—Reverend Edmund Hamilton Sears. In 1849, a Boston editor used to quote it to friends, saying no matter how poor his sermon might be, for he was also a preacher—the hymn made up for his deficiencies. The music is by Richard Storrs Willis, a friend of Mendelssohn.

"I came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From Angels bending near the eaves,
To touch their harps of gold."

The beautiful Christmas lullaby—"Away in a Manger"—came from the pen of Martin Luther.

"Away in a manger,
No crib for a bed,
The little Lord Jesus,
Laid down His sweet head."

From the old French carol "Canique De Noel" comes the lovely "O Holy Night." Written by Cappeau Deloit, it was Bosten's John of Mattice. Another post was Sullivan Dwight, who made 1785 and, in 1870, this Hudday, they encompass over 18, the translation. The 19th Century Paris musician Adolphe Chastet Adam—who is perhaps best-known for his ballet music to Giselle—wrote the melody.

"O holy night, the stars are brightly shining
It is the night of the dear
Saviour's birth."

A true folk song from the west of England is the basis for the charming melody "The First Noel."

The earliest record of the old English carol is from 1833. It tells of the shepherds, . . . the mystical star in the East . . . of how came the three wise men seeking a king . . . of how they recognized Him the infant Christ and offered him their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. "The first noel the angel did say,
Was to certain poor shepherds,
In fields as they lay."

But it was from the land most resembling Christmas itself that came the most appealing Christmas carol of all . . . "Silent Night, Holy Night."

On Christmas even in 1818, Father Joseph Mohr, who lived in the Austrian village of Oberdorf near Salzburg, wrote down the words of Stille Nacht . . . Heilige Nacht.

With music composed by the church's organist—Franz Gruber—the song was ready for singing. Today, almost a century and a half later it's the world's favorite Christmas song.

"Silent night, holy night,
All is calm, all is bright."

Necessary Precautions

To keep your Christmas tree fresh—and safe—take these precautions:

Before erecting the tree, select a freshly cut specimen, store it in a cool shady place with the butt end in water until needed. Sprinkle branches and foliage with water frequently.

Erecting the tree: Support the tree well and place it so as to leave branches clear and away from sources of heat such as fireplaces, radiators and TV sets.

Avoid the use of candles or other open flames on trees.

Check electric lights and connections to avoid overloaded circuits and wires, frayed wires and cords.

Avoid combustible decorations and inflammable reflectors.

Stately White Spruce

With evergreens to the fore at Christmas, this is the snow-liver and on the Canadian what different story of a state. National Railway line. Finally by white spruce, 180 years old, which has seen history in the making in Ontario's northland—and which now is playing its own part in the making of the history of Canada.

Timber Forester W. A. Perrin, of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, Kapuskasing tells the story of the tree and its destiny:

"About 180 years ago, a white spruce seed fell on a mound of earth near the Pagan River in Boyo Town. The seed sprouted and grew. Its leader could be noticed through the layer of litter on top of the ground. The neighboring shrubs and trees provided shelter and the seedling grew strong and straight."

George III was the reigning sovereign and the Hudson's Bay Company was very active in buying furs and distributing goods in exchange. A post was already established on the Missinibi River about 40 miles north of the present village of Mattice. Another post was Sullivan Dwight, who made 1785 and, in 1870, this Hudday, they encompass over 18, the translation. The 19th Century Paris musician Adolphe Chastet Adam—who is perhaps best-known for his ballet music to Giselle—wrote the melody.

"The white spruce grew until it was almost 100 feet in height and more than three feet in diameter at the stump."

Last month, a man with a chain saw came along with orders to cut piling—and this white spruce provided a straight, rot-free pile over 50 feet in length.

"Soon the greater part of the white spruce which outlived so much history will be transported hundreds of miles. The pile is going to Cornwall to become part of one of the great engineering feats of modern times—the St. Lawrence Seaway."

"The Hudson's Bay posts which saw the spruce's early history are now known as 'Settlement progressed slow following the railways. Towns were established and roads were built. Mills utilized the rich crop of timber and land was cleared to create farms. The administrative boundaries of the district also changed many times until to 300 square miles."

More hard luck
on those of plagues club

It was confirmed early Monday p.m. that the Lindsay Juniors Hockey team, played by a series of misfortunes since the start of the season will play its home game against Bobcaygeon at the Cannington Arena, Tuesday evening instead of before the home town fans at the Kiwanis Arena.

A spokesman for the club blamable "most inefficient manner" in which the present Recreation Committee has acted for the past few months, for the decision to take the game to the Cannington.

It is reported that the club is considering playing the rest of its scheduled home games at Lindsay.

A club spokesman said a visiting club had to receive five dollars to estimate $2,000 in at least 24 hours notice on match arrangements. "Due to the present Recreation Committee setup we have been unable to give any teams any definite assurance whatsoever," the spokesman declared.

Tri-car pileup hurts one,
loss may run to $4,000

Vehicles owned by three Oakwood men were damaged extensively as the result of an accident two miles south of Oakwood Friday evening.

Dennis Monaghan, R.R. 2, Oakwood, was the driver of a 1950 Buick Wildcat. The car was parked on County Road 6. The parked cars were owned by Mr. K. Squires and P. J. McCorvie, both of Oakwood.

First hand reports say the Monaghan vehicle left the road and collided with a parked vehicle owned by K. Squires. This vehicle in turn smashed into the rear of the parked McCorvie car.

Damage to the Monaghan vehicle was estimated at $1,000. An estimated $2,000 damage was caused to the parked cars.

Monaghan was treated at the office of Dr. G.R. Hall of Little Britain for facial lacerations.

Cuts, falls, bring trio
for outpatient treatment

Staff at the Ross Memorial Hospital found three patients who were shipped on a patch of ice during the past weekend.

Following treatment the 67-year-old Lindsay resident was allowed to return home.

Peter Vasiliou, 26, of the Victoria Restaurant, Kent St., Lindsay, was given outpatient treatment for lacerations to his hand.

Saturday, Mr. A. Farwell, 85, William Street, S. Lindsay, was taken to hospital following a fall near his home.

Mr. Farwell sustained a possible fracture of the left rib which he slipped on a patch of ice during the past weekend.

Highway junction lighting
impresses motoring public

People coming into Lindsay by passing routes report they are impressed with the battery of lights at major junctions on the town fringes.

Installed at the instigation of Premier Leslie M. Frost as an additional safety precaution, travellers say the first time they approached these zones, they thought they were coming into a well-lighted suburban centre.

Numerous complimentary remarks concerning the safe lighting have been voiced since their installation completed.

Typical of these is this one from a district motorist: "These brilliant lights make it possible to negotiate these highway junctions with a great sense of ease or feeling of security."

Frost says Ontario will care for tubercular refugees

Toronto, Dec. 22.—(UPI)—Ontario Premier Leslie Frost said today the province will take all the tubercular refugees from the Soviet Union who are assigned to it.

He said Ontario has nothing to do with determining the number coming here but is prepared to take care of "any" of them.

One-third of the Canadian population lives in Ontario and the province's "large" hospitals are "well equipped" to handle them.

He said Ontario would be one-third the cost.

Twenty-one times 21 makes 441. To word it another way, 21 colored Christmas tree lights at 21 cents each cost $4.41. And that's the amount a St. Paul Street woman is paying for her outdoor Christmas tree, while she was away from home.

Guest Speaker,
Rev. Stovell, Topic "What is Christmas"

The Lindsay W. I. held their annual Turkey Supper on the occasion of their December meeting in the Town Hall recently. The tables were prettily decorated with red candles and coloured balls. A delicious banquet had been prepared by the Conventers Mrs. L. Hutton and Mrs. H. V. Rogers and their committee, which was much enjoyed by all the members. Guests of honour were the Rev. R. B. and Mrs. Stovell. After the banquet Mr. Stovell gave an address in which he stressed the meaning of Christmas. He stated that although December 25th is the day on which the Christian Churches celebrated the birth of our Lord, this was not the actual date—in fact this was unknown and some countries kept January 6th for this Festival. Many Christmas carols were sung and a lovely, mistletoe, etc. had been taken from Pagan ceremonies and Christianized. "What is Christmas?" he asked. "It is a time of family reunion, which is a good thing, and of love and forgiveness, which is a good thing. It would be much poorer without our Christmas," he said. Mrs. A. Williams thanked the speaker for his inspiring address. "It was a good thing," declared Mr. Emerson.

During the Christmas two-hour meeting, Chairman Gordon Pepper disclosed that in the recent management of the Night Raiders and committee, it had been decided to have a Christmas party on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Pepper said this committee had agreed to this only because of the late start to the season by the club. "We gave the green light for an annual Christmas party as well," added Mr. Pepper.

The chairman went on to state that the way the program was being handled appeared as though the club had been given exclusive use of the committee members. "The agreement was that the club have four hours of ice time on occasional Sundays," the speaker declared.

Mr. Fred Emerson said the agreement stated that only the occasional practice game would be played. There was to have been no promotion whatsoever," declared Mr. Emerson.

One member of the club asked the committee why admission was charged at the Rotary Swimming Pool on Sunday and hockey was discriminated against. It was agreed by the committee members that the situation was not fair, "it is just a case of someone's pocketbook. The game is getting away from it," declared one of the members.

The Sunday sport issue came up for discussion. The Recreation Committee informed the sponsor, Mel Cunningham that an exhibition game scheduled for Sunday, December 27th, would have to be cancelled.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT IN MENUS

Judging by a copy of the Christmas Day menu of the Ross Memorial Hospital, the patients and those who will be dining with them will have a choice of some very appetizing items. However, it wasn't the food listed on the menu which impressed us most when the specimen copy came our way. It was the attractiveness of the menu's design.

At first glance one got the impression that this was a very appealing example of colour printing, but closer examination revealed this was incorrect. . . The menu's design had been hand-coloured in crayons. The design incorporates six crayon-coloured pictures, two of Santa Claus filling the Christmas stockings hung on the fireplace, two of the chef offering a choice (idiot of his reindeer and two of the Virgin Mary and the Christ child).

It's amazing what beautiful things can be achieved with a few basic materials and a little imagination. It's those responsible for the hospital's Christmas menus deserve a special compliment of the season.

MR. JOHNSON AND THE ARENA

When Mr. Harry Johnson took over the management of the Lindsay arena, he walked into a spot of trouble, trouble which was not of his making but which appears to have been the cumulative result of improper management. It is unfair, therefore, to connect him with all the ills associated with the arena. Instead, he should only be identified with the affairs of the arena as far as the times he took over as manager.

One of the great weaknesses in connection with the operating of the arena (a publicly-owned venture) has been to look around for a scapegoat whenever something went wrong, instead of looking at the arena as a whole. It has been a secondary matter while the search for someone on whom to pin the blame assumes primary importance.

Throughout the history of the arena there have been glaring examples of neglect in connection with the building itself. Some of these examples still exist, as take the case of the wall at the north end of the building. It has been extensively battered by cars parking alongside.

Until attention is focussed on the predisposing causes of the problems arising from the use at the arena, they will not only continue to occur but their frequency will probably accelerate.

Anyone can "pass the buck" or select a scapegoat. It is more intelligent to get at the source of the trouble and correct it.

In the meantime, Mr. Johnson is the manager of the arena and he should be given every co-operation in carrying out his duties.

He is directly responsible to the town's recreation committee and it is his duty to set policy and see it is carried out.

POOR CHARLIE IS NO LONGER THE LIFE OF THE PARTY

Poor Charlie won't be the life of the party this Christmas nor any other Christmas to come. As a matter of fact it is the third Christmas party he has missed as he has his last appearance in that role. . . He was killed in an accident following his last lively outing.

Many people are now familiar with the late Charlie, one-time life of the party, thanks to the efforts of the Ontario Dept. of Transport which has gone to great lengths to publicize the tragic circumstances surrounding his death in the hope that others might be spared a similar fate.

The department, in an outstanding advertisement, shows Charlie sprawled full-length on the highway a short distance from a wrecked car. He is quite dead and a blanket covers most of his body. The dramatic ad invites readers to "Meet Charlie, life of the party" and this is what it says about him:

"Quite a guy, Charlie. Tall, handsome, everybody liked him—and Charlie was the life of the party whenever their crowd got together. Take Christmas. They were all there. It had been quite an evening. The party finally broke up around two-thirty. 'See you at our place tomorrow,' Charlie said. But tomorrow never came for Charlie. He had made the mistake of having one more for the road. Oh, sure, he felt O.K. But he wasn't. Alcohol had dulled his reflexes and changed his attitude toward driving. At any other time Charlie could have avoided the accident. But this time he didn't move fast enough. What Charlie didn't realize was that a few sips of alcohol had slowed his reflexes, impaired his ability and changed his driving attitude. Your Ontario Department of Transport asks you not to take that chance. If you intend drinking, don't drive. You'll have a easy conscience and a lot more fun."

A GRIM FORECAST

It has been predicted that 36 people will lose their lives in Canadian traffic accidents during the Christmas weekend. This is a grim forecast which all people who have a reverence for life should strive to prevent becoming a reality.

The cherished hope of every right-thinking person at Christmas is that it will truly be a time of peace and good will, a reminder that these things, enjoyed with love of our fellow man, are the really worthwhile objective of this world. Violent death, whether it be on our highways through motor vehicle accidents or in whatever circumstance, does not belong to Christmas.

Will you do your part this Christmas season to ensure that you do not contribute to the violence of any kind? Drive carefully, reflect on those things which are of goodwill, and you will make a big contribution to a joyful Yuletide.

In this connection there is unusual significance in the terms of an article prepared for the Canadian Tax Journal, magazine of the Canadian Tax Foundation, and appearing in the current edition of that publication, by Kenneth Eaton, former assistant deputy Finance Minister at Ottawa and now in private business as a tax consultant. The article in question deals specifically with that clause in the Income Tax Act which provides that capital expenses cannot be deducted in computing the taxable income of a business.

The idea of using profits, as a tax base without recognizing capital costs is, this authority says, completely and utterly incongruous. He proposes that the law should be rewritten so as to recognize the general principle—with some exceptions—that all expenditures in business, both current and capital, are incurred for the purpose of producing profits and should be allowed as a deduction in computing profits. —The Financial Times

People speak of making their peace with God. They may as well try to climb to the moon. Every ONE MAN can make peace with God on behalf of sinful men, and lie has done it, once and for all. It was done when He cried, "IT IS FINISHED" on Calvary's Tree.

Bethany (PNS) — On Sunday, Mrs. Mary's Edward Mitchell, R. 2, Bethany, died of a heart attack at his home in the village of his life-long residents in the town of his birth.

Until seven years ago, when Mitchell suffered a fractured hip in a fall at home, he was able to work on his own farm in the 10th concession of Mayers town, just east of Highway 35, 12 miles south of Lindsay. When this highway was reconstructed, he was unable to drive through this property, now owned by Earl Shea. This locality and two former homes of the couple were within walking distance of their childhood homes and were outside the community for a period of nine years when Mr. Mitchell took charge of the public school. In spite of advanced years, Mrs. Mitchell made a quick and complete recovery from her illness. Very reluctantly she agreed to leave her own home to live with her son to reside at the home of Mr. Mitchell's boyhood, with their son Edison and his family.

Mrs. Mitchell was born Elizabeth Emma Wilson, eldest daughter of a family of children born to George and Elizabeth (Staples) Wilson in 1867. The year of Confederation. Her family was well known and highly regarded in the district. She was the youngest daughter of the late William Mitchell and his wife, the former Mrs. Mary's daughter, who survived member of their family of seven sons and three daughters. He was born in Cavan township in 1808, moved to his present home at the age of five, to attend Fleetwood public school, Lindsay Model school and Collingwood Collegiate Institute, and graduated from Ottawa Normal school. He taught in his home at Fleetwood for four years, at Lifford for a record-breaking period of twenty-six years, and prior to his retirement, at Newville, for nine years. After thirty-nine years spent in the district, he was pensioned by the federal government. He was never entirely forsaken and busied himself in ranching his farm property.

With the exception of one vacation spent in a trip to England together in a visit to relatives in Manitoba, Mrs. Mitchell preferred to spend his school vacations in the home of his son, an excursion boat that operated on the Kewartha Lakes, and his son, the late Dr. McCamus and operated by a brother, Thomas McCamus.

Liked Circuses
 Mr. Mitchell was never attracted to social or fraternal societies and except for a minor interest in baseball and a passionate fondness for the circus, he devoted his time and energy to teaching and ranching. He seldom missed a circus and he has attended 89 big shows. Now that the advent of television has brought such programmes regularly, he is able to continue his fascination with the circus in his living room at home.

In his young days, Mr. Mitchell was interested in the red deer rural life. It is well known that his hobby kept him going very early, he built, sold and worked horses, and never kept late service as church organist.

Letters of complaint from the Secretary of the Openess Public School Board, and from the Clerk of the village, received by the school board to Lindsay were aired at Wednesday night meeting of the Victoria County High School Area Board.

Both letters stated that several complaints had been received regarding overcrowding on the bus. It was also pointed out that there had been complaints from parents regarding the time the buses depart from the Collegiate at Lindsay following the afternoon classes.

It was the opinion of many outside the committee that the children would be later on the bus for a period of nine years when Mr. Mitchell took charge of the public school. In spite of advanced years, Mrs. Mitchell made a quick and complete recovery from her illness. Very reluctantly she agreed to leave her own home to live with her son to reside at the home of Mr. Mitchell's boyhood, with their son Edison and his family.

While living at Newville, they identified themselves with the United Church. Both were members of the Bible. Among their guests for home on Sunday were Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Meades. Mr. Mitchell has seen many changes in the church and homes of the district and his exceptional memory for names and events made him outstanding as a source of reference for past events. He was the average citizen at the local school and were brought by sleigh or horse to the school. He walked the distance (as did his wife) all the way long to the school. He had many days absent or late. Mr. Mitchell approves the late school and less rigid discipline of pupils of today and envisions a move to more consolidated schools. He is much less inclined to favor the move towards smoothing the path of learning within the school and less rigid discipline. Mr. Mitchell was relentless in the discharge of his duties as a teacher. He won the approval of his pupils and his school inspector for his successful methods. Unfortunately, the salary of the public school teacher in late 80s and first quarter of the 90s was very low, and ample, that was the reason for his continued farming activity and it proved successful in the end.

Shared Interests
 Mrs. Mitchell has always been a very busy woman. As a careful, thrifty housewife, she kept her wifely duties, even in advanced years. She took pride in producing quality butter, baking bread, feeding a garden and raising well as well as when the men are no longer independent of help for lighter duties of the garden. She was an out-of-doors worker. She definitely disapproved the trend of many women to work with tractors at their husband's work, but has herself at the lighter chores and the sewing and mending that came after hours. Mrs. Mitchell shared her husband's ambition to succeed financially and they have seen their ambition realized.

Mr. Mitchell has seen many changes in the church and homes of the district and his exceptional memory for names and events made him outstanding as a source of reference for past events. He was the average citizen at the local school and were brought by sleigh or horse to the school. He walked the distance (as did his wife) all the way long to the school. He had many days absent or late. Mr. Mitchell approves the late school and less rigid discipline of pupils of today and envisions a move to more consolidated schools. He is much less inclined to favor the move towards smoothing the path of learning within the school and less rigid discipline. Mr. Mitchell was relentless in the discharge of his duties as a teacher. He won the approval of his pupils and his school inspector for his successful methods. Unfortunately, the salary of the public school teacher in late 80s and first quarter of the 90s was very low, and ample, that was the reason for his continued farming activity and it proved successful in the end.

Shared Interests
 Mrs. Mitchell has always been a very busy woman. As a careful, thrifty housewife, she kept her wifely duties, even in advanced years. She took pride in producing quality butter, baking bread, feeding a garden and raising well as well as when the men are no longer independent of help for lighter duties of the garden. She was an out-of-doors worker. She definitely disapproved the trend of many women to work with tractors at their husband's work, but has herself at the lighter chores and the sewing and mending that came after hours. Mrs. Mitchell shared her husband's ambition to succeed financially and they have seen their ambition realized.

Mr. Mitchell's Maxim has been to be temperate in his young days. He was interested in the red deer rural life. It is well known that his hobby kept him going very early, he built, sold and worked horses, and never kept late service as church organist.

Yves Sirel And A Farmer south of Lindsay has first-hand evidence that such is the case. Can he prove it? He sure can and this is how.

Every moonlight night
 the past couple of weeks the said farmer has stood in his window and watched four lovely deer enter his apple orchard and gorge themselves on apples that were left on the ground and lower branches of the apple trees.

The farmer lamented that Jack Frost sneaked up during the night freezing the apples. He said that the apples could be harvested, but not because his nightly vigil with his ultimate picture of beauty is well worth the loss of a few apples.

Mr. Frank Jenkins, Little Britain, president of the Independent League, congratulated the team on their victory and said there were hard-fought games but Valencia had managed to win. The cup has been in competition for seven years with Valencia holding it for the last five.

Mr. Jenkins then presented the cup to Mr. Beverly Stacey, captain of the team who thanked Mr. Jenkins and said that he hoped the boys would be able to be in the line-up again next year.

Mrs. Mac Glasford then read an item on the "Punch and Ball Team," including each player as they played on the field.

Mr. Harold Falk, Little Britain, secretary treasurer, was the next speaker and in a few words congratulated the boys on their victory and his appreciation to the boys on the team and told how they had entered the finals and had gone on to win the beautiful silver cup for the fifth year in succession.

Mr. Ken Mark, manager of the Valencia team was called on for a few words and he thanked all the players for their part in the victory. He also thanked the umpires who handled the games, the referee who supervised the games and the players who had prepared the supper. He ended by that they hoped to have a team able to carry on next year.

Mr. Lorne Sooden thanked all the way they had gotten to the Kewartha Chapter to the ball team and hoped each one had enjoyed the evening. The singing of "They Are Gaily Good Fellows" brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

The players, officers and guests sat down to a delicious turkey dinner.

After the dinner Mr. Mac Glasford was appointed Master of Ceremonies.

Mr. Mills was the first one called upon and he spoke of his appreciation to the boys on the team and told how they had entered the finals and had gone on to win the beautiful silver cup for the fifth year in succession.

As the daily wrapped packages pile higher toward the ceilings of the offices of four deans assume the appearance of one of Santa's workshops.

"Come to the Manger"
Cambridge Street United Church Sunday School will present the play "Come to the Manger" at evening, Wednesday, December 29, at 7 p.m. on Christmas Sunday. The morning worship at Cambridge Street United Church will be special.

LINDSAY TO BE RESIDENT ENGINEER EXAMINER FOR INDIAN PIAN

Calling consultant on sewer issues

WANT SURVEY AND ESTIMATE

Premier Frost to lay cornerstone of RMH expansion, May date set

NOTICED... along the way

Three-way system to blanket province

The Board of Management Committee of the County of Home for the Aged, decided at a meeting held Thursday to hire a consultant to make a preliminary survey of the area at the foot of Adelaide Street, where a plugged sewer, the cause of much controversy, is located.

The committee agreed to the hiring of the consultant in order that an approximate idea of the cost of installing a new sewer could be ascertained.

Mr. James McQuarrie, chairman of the Board of Works told members of the committee, the local Board of Health had continued to press that action regarding the sewer be taken. The Councilor said some remedial action had been taken by the town in order to get the plugged sewer working. Mr. McQuarrie told the committee the water was draining away at the present time, he did not think the sewer would carry the additional water in the spring.

"We want to eliminate this problem so that no sewage will be entering the river in the spring," said Mr. McQuarrie.

Town Engineer J. N. Timberlake revealed that the bulk of the water draining off the fields was entering the sanitary sewer. Mr. Timberlake said this was throwing a heavy load on the town's sewage plant.

The engineer in answer to a question suggested that a new line be constructed from the home.

Mr. Timberlake in his opening remarks said he did not feel that the press should publish a report before the matter had been discussed by Council. The Town Engineer said it was his opinion that Council members should not have to obtain their information from the press.

"In my opinion the line at Adelaide Street is still blocked, it is not flowing freely," said the engineer, Mr. Timber-

Those who like moccasins dances had better start getting ready for one after the New Year's Eve. Lindsay of Chawood says he read in "The Post" that someone wanted to find a husband. Lindsay said he and he's anxious to let everyone with a similar desire to get their moccasins pressed up because he said in the Oakwood Skating rink is having a giant winter carnival. Lindsay is to have a resident examination centre for motor vehicle operators. This was announced Friday by Ontario's Minister of Transport Mr. Jeno Yaremko. Just when the province will be establishing an intelligent on progress made in the province-wide program.

The new type driver examination system is being developed on a basis of population. It embodies a continuation of the government approved extension of a new examination system in existence all Ontario.

There are now in existence eight or nine examination centres and these will probably be augmented by about 12 more, says the transport minister explained. At these larger centres there will be three or more examiners on full-time duty. In addition to these key centres there will be resident examination centres throughout the province.

Mr. Yaremko went on to point out that over and above this the province plans to put into circulation travelling examiners who will make an on-the-spot appearance at smaller centres. Arrangements to meet these travelling examiners will be made through some local official such as the village or town clerk.

It will be a three-way administrative setup in that no one will be required to travel more than 20 miles from the examination point, the minister declared.

Everyone, he further pointed out, should be examined under the new system.

"THE POST" REFUTES ALLEGATIONS MADE BY RADIO STATION CKLY

"Not Guilty" record shows

Radio Station CKLY Lindsay is reported to be attempting to discredit reports in the local press relative to a proposed shopping mall for Lindsay.

According to the report, it is alleged that the press here conveyed the wrong impression regarding the findings of a special committee of the Lindsay City Council.

The committee named to look into the idea.

Radio Station CKLY is reliably reported to have alleged that the local press conveyed the impression that the idea had been abandoned for all time.

"The Post" in its report of the committee's findings is not guilty of any such offense.

It's report stated, quote: "Lindsay merchants are not in favor of holding a shopping mall similar to the one held recently in Peterborough at this time of year."

There is nothing in the aforegoing or in the complete report to suggest the idea had been entirely abandoned.

Those are the facts.

We say Merry Christmas to you with a charming yuletide story

Good Christmas

by Stanton M. Meyer

Now that Bruce Siskins is around here, and probably getting fat and a little bald, maybe he's almost forgotten about little Jeanne and Victor back in the tiny village of Blond, France—especially since Bruce Siskins is old enough now to have a couple of youngsters every bit as big as Jeanne and Victor were back in that December day in 1917. He lives somewhere in Ohio, perhaps, and I hope Santa Claus is good to him and his family this Christmas.

I'm sure that Jeanne and Victor haven't forgotten. It would be pretty hard to forget anything about that winter when the snow came down and covered up the remains of broken bricks that once had been beautiful roofs, and when the long trains of horse-guns crashed past, glowing deep darkness in the drizzle faster than the fuses could fall.

And it would be hard to forget about Christmas that year, too, maybe because it seemed as if there'd be no Christmas. There weren't any candles, for one thing, and even if there had been, you didn't dare put them in the windows for fear of enemy planes. And how could you go to mass at a Nef where the church had no roof and only one "wall"? Even if les pères stayed at the field hospital, where he was surely needed, the candles, no shape, no prism, no fat flames, no say—and nothing to make them out of, whatsoever—a very pleasant surprise for Christmas with masses III and pape far away fighting for the paris.

But that was before Jeanne and Victor met Bruce Siskins. You see, it was late on the night of the twenty-third of December that the Buckeye Battery jingled wearily up the road from the east, where the sky was already early dark. The gun carriages sounded for all the world like a score of lancers clashing, and Jeanne listened to the clinking of the harness chains, and forgot about the crawling of the big wheels and the grunts of the soldiers who tried to push them out, when the drizzle got too deep. How the horses sneezed! The lanterns flashed on little shining streaks on their boots where the moonlight had melted away.

Jeanne and Victor tipped in the window to watch while the animals were led away in the sheds and barns. Pretty soon the little street was filled with men, and then you could see the light shining out of the entrance more the snow as the parapets held the door open.

After Jeanne and Victor were back in bed they could hear the horses snorting in the distance, and now and then under their window a broad, hoarse laugh and low Woo in an accent that sounded not at all like the talk of the English soldiers who had often killed here in the past. And then, pretty soon, it was morning.

The very first person little Victor and Jeanne saw when they had given enough her tea and bread and had made her warm and gone out into the street—the very first person was Bruce Siskins. Victor remembers his tanned face and his blue eyes, and how small his nostrils open looked on his big round head, and how funny his blue dress coat trousers lay down under his ankles when he walked, showing the iron legs underneath.

"Hello, kids!" he said, and laughed. A big hoarse laugh that filled the little street.

"You sit on Américain!" asked Victor, timidly.

"Sure!" said Bruce Siskins, "a grand Américain and a very good cook!" And he laughed again.

"Come!" said Jeanne, in her charming Lorraine accent. "What is cook? Un officier, perhaps?"

"No!" said Victor. Bruce was silent. A chef Claf des rennes? I'm the man who cooks the grub for the whole battery. Soup and coffee and beans and pump-o'-deer and sometimes a poulet for the captain! Who, little girl, who is the master?"

For the mention of all that food can make even a brave little French girl cry—even one whose pape is fighting for the France—if she has had nothing to eat for days but hard black bread and watery tea and a little weak red wine. And Jeanne was biting her lip hard to keep back the sobs.

In one month Bruce Siskins was named on the attestation with Jeanne on his knee and he was sitting, away the stars with a blue handkerchief as big as an altar cloth. And in two months Maurice was sitting on the ground beside him, doing the explaining as he bent the head of the family, and perhaps because he was old for his years—what boy was not in France in 1917? He told what there was to tell in straightforward, matter-of-fact, man-of-war fashion.

He told of Maurice, who had been ill of a malady in the shed for many weeks; of the pape who was far away in Picardy; of the great shell that had killed their only cow. Of the black bread that grew blinder and harder as the weeks went on. A dinner? No, of a dinner, there was none in the village. All were needed at the front. No, Maurice, Maurice had had no dinner. If it were for poor Maurice, and for the fact that little Jeanne would have no Christmas—the real one could wait for her mother's little France. Why not? C'est la guerre!

And then suddenly the tall Américain had squeezed their hands and left them all was happy down the crooked little street. And then he was back again. With an American officer's military deux with gray chin-whiskers and bright boots, no whom he was amazingly respectful and, "My Milady" and "Here are the children, sir," and, "A little while Maurice—children were at Maurice's bedside, holding Maurice" write very solemnly while the tall Américain, the Major Bruce Siskins, was giving them American chewing gum and telling them of his little sister in a fantasy place called Alaska.

Jeanne and Victor went to sleep late that night. Maurice had been given medicine from a bottle brought by the American doctor. There had been white bread and soup and a strong chicken soup for supper. Bruce Siskins had brought them in under his overcoat. "From the officer, Monsieur," he said. And now the men was shining cold and white over the roofs of Blond and it seemed that even the shadow to the east was nearly still.

Don Bruce Siskins remember Christmas Eve in Lorraine in 1917? With the distant murmur of music in the chapel and the muffled stamping nearer in the stables where the artillery horses were tethered and the bay in the manger? To Victor, the tall champion remains as a living memory; for it made him think of a story of another winter in a long ago time far away.

Victor noticed, too, the flickering lights in the market house where the Buckeye Battery was billeted. Did they never sleep, those tall Américains? And where was that fat commissaire going with Monsieur the don-keeper's hat and baggage red tablier?

And then, strangely, it was morning again.

Victor remembers hearing Jeanne call out from the little living room before he had had his bath. And she had been going in and out among men sitting up in a chair, warm and comfortable and smiling. The rest is still like a dream of beaucoup—it was then that the red hat had brown curls and cold shells and the sound of marching feet for three long years.

In the center of the clean-swept room hovered a great tree. One of the republic's own fir trees, no doubt, mysteriously appearing here in this little house as if there were no stern forest guards to protect the nation's wood reserves and keep pillaging hands away. Its high top reached the low ceiling and bent back again. From its branches—carefully tied on with bits of crème—were a dozen candles. Strange they looked, all lit at once! Each white candle had a steel mark in purple ink: "U. S. Commemorative Tree." And their light made double wonderful the strange form that covered the tree—little dolls and manikins and animals, cleverly clipped from cardboard; bits of red cardboard; queer little packages, labeled "chewing gum." Beneath the tree stood a doll's house, its roof shingled over with the bright covers of cigarette packages. A miniature warship, carved from a single piece of wood with a trench-boat, was something through a memory sea of white cottons. And next to it, miserably contrived of cigar-box wood and tin cans, stood a toy gun-carriage, custom and all, bearing the proud sign "Buckeye Battery".

And then the room was filled with great, laughing soldiers in olive drab, and a big man with a round face that looked strangely like Bruce Siskins' came in all dressed in a suit of red with a carrot cap and a monkey beard and horns American horns—not so astonishing after all, for the soldiers said he was an American Santa Claus. And he laughed and snatched wonderful things from a great port-full cans of soup and bacons, bottles of medicine for man, beams, and cake and tinned fish and a dressed food.

Can Bruce Siskins remember how Victor's eyes bulged when he was given a whole big domestic to eat? Don he remember the warm red fire in the stove, and the games, and how the red-haired soldier made little Jeanne laugh when he imitated a cat-dog fight and then played on a mouth harp? Does he recall the songs, and how he taught a little French boy to sing "K-K-K-Kay" while the war seemed far away?

I wonder if he remembers seeing a boy and a girl the next morning, standing near the market house when the horses were led to their places at the guns and the Buckeye Battery jingled away through the snow toward the east where the thunder was loud again. Does he recall, perhaps, waving from the back of the street wagon? And of having two voices cry, "Don't wave!" above the noise of command and the horses' feet!

Does he remember? I, Victor, think he does.

This World War I Christmas story originally appeared a quarter of a century ago in the old St. Nicholas Magazine for November, 1914. It has since become something of a minor children's classic. To many a U. S. veteran who once spent a Christmas far from home in Italy, France, the Dutch Islands, or Korea—this tale may strike a nostalgic note of remembrance.

propriate for Christmas but it is paid.
"Some day, when time for us is paid.
And when our course on Earth is run,
We'll look back from the other shore

And see good the things we have done
How easy now to live for self
For food to eat and clothes to wear,
And never listen to the moan
Of other humans in need.

How thoughtlessly we pass along
Unmindful of a brother's need
Which might help or hinder
By doing some small, kind deed.

An interest in another's woe,
A word of cheer, a friendly smile,
Will brighten someone's lonely hours
And also make our lives worth while.

So let us seek to serve and give
Which makes for our earthly joy
While we look back for our earthly joy
Lest we will have to regret
What we have done.

On the good we might have done."

BODIES DISINTERRED
Warsaw, Dec. 30 (UPI)—The bodies of 143 Polish and Hungarian women shot by the Nazis during World War II have been disinterred from a mass grave in a forest near Warsaw and reburied in Rybnik Cemetery.
The women were believed to have been prisoners from Stutthof concentration camp, brought to the forest to be executed by the Nazis in the winter of 1944-45.

WORLD IS RUNNING BEHIND TIME
Moscow, Dec. 30 (UPI)—The world is 31 seconds behind time, a Soviet astronomer reported today.
Khvashin Pavel, head of the Ephemeris Service at Leningrad's Pulkovo Observatory, said the time loss has accumulated since the first discovery of this century.

He told the Soviet news agency Tass that the inaccuracy resulted from unevenness in the rotation of the earth on its axis.

SEARCHING FOR 'YETI', KILLED
Katmandu, Nepal, Dec. 30 (UPI)—One member of a four-man Soviet expedition searching for an "Abominable Snowman," or "Yeti," was killed last spring, apparently in an avalanche.

"DECAPITATION MURDERER"
Birmingham, England, Dec. 30 (UPI)—Tension mounted in Birmingham, England today as a "decapitation murderer" apparently continued to elude an immense police hunt.

Six men were rounded up for questioning during the night in various places throughout the English Midlands, but only one still remained in custody this morning. There were no indications he was directly linked with the case.

There was no indication, in the seventh day of the killer search, that police had any definite clue to the identity of the man who, last Wednesday night, beheaded 28-year old Sydney Stephens in his car in York. A hotel room, cutting off her head with a common table knife. Adding to the horror of the crime was the fact the killer, described as young, stockily built and with long, fair, curly hair, boarded a bus a few moments later, his hands slicked up covered with blood.

ANNOUNCES HE'S IN RUNNING
Washington, Dec. 30 (UPI)—Senator Hubert Humphrey has formally announced that he is running for the Democratic presidential nomination in the United States.

The Democratic lawmaker's long-expected decision came at a news conference in Washington today. Humphrey said he would enter primary contests in Wisconsin, Oregon, South Dakota and the District of Columbia. He said he would "like to enter other primaries," but has limited finances.

DISGUSTED AS EARTHQUAKES
American scientists report a possible method of dispelling underground nuclear blasts to make them as safe as earthquakes. Scientists in Pasadena say nuclear blasts can be nullified in underground cavities. They say that blasts then appear as earthquakes on seismographs.

CHARGES U.S. BROKE TEST BAN
Russia has charged the U.S. recently broke its self-imposed nuclear test ban due to end tomorrow. The official Communist newspaper says America tested underground nuclear bombs in violation of the voluntary 14-month test halt. Pravda attacked the decision to end U.S. nuclear ban as a move opposed to peace.

MAINE'S GOVERNOR DIES
Maine's Governor Clinton Clauson died today—presumably from a heart attack or cerebral hemorrhage. The 64-year old Democrat had attended a dinner last night at Lewiston, Maine, and the governor's news secretary said he appeared in good health. Clauson was elected to a four-year term in 1958.

It was revealed this morning that at the present time there is nothing in the plans for an auxiliary power unit to be installed in the new addition to the hospital. The question is reported to have been recently discussed by the members of the hospital committee. There is also reported to be a feeling among board members that they have managed sufficiently well in the present hospital without any form of auxiliary power and the installation of the equipment in the new building would not justify the cost.

The old songs . . .

Christmas Surprise Supplied by CGIT For LPH Patients

The patients at the Lindsay Private Hospital, Ridout St., had a pleasant Christmas surprise presented by the girls of the CGIT (Laser, Mrs. Murray Woods), who came and sang carols to them one evening this week. Vol. 40, they sang very sweetly, but they brought a gift of a box of stationery for every patient.

Some of them made by the girls themselves, beautifully wrapped in Christmas packages. They also presented the patients with a floral centrepiece for their bedside tables, made of white lilies with a poinsettia. And a foliage of spruce, pine, and Eucalyptus. These flowers had all been made by the patients and were extremely life like and looked very attractive. It was very nice to think that these girls had spent many hours preparing these gifts for those who were sick and ill and less fortunate than themselves and both the patients and the staff were very appreciative of their generous action.

Don't Forget About Springs When Reconditioning Valves
